

Externalization Of The Reptilian Hierarchy - Why Reptilians Go Public

Just as announced and predicted by many sources and researchers the final stage of the alien agenda will be them coming forward, revealing themselves to the public. With promises of friendship, technology exchange, advanced knowledge, promise of protection from other aliens or asteroids/natural catastrophes, etc.

The great deception, the savior scenario.

They cannot hide any longer as more and more people become aware of their existence and presence among us, and because the vibrational change taking place on earth interferes with their ability to hold human form. Therefore they have to transition from secret covert to overt ruler ship.

That's why we see more and more of these entities appear on Youtube, Facebook and other places where they advertise for themselves. Portraying themselves as intellectually superior, as wise and just leaders, as keepers of knowledge as benevolent space brothers, as new friends, and so on.

I haven't yet seen a single video of any of them in which they don't tell outrageous lies, in order to portray themselves in a positive light.

My comment sections are suddenly full of them as well, preying on the naivety of my viewers, introducing themselves as benevolent caretakers. While they tell them unbelievable (to those informed obvious) outrageous lies. It's sickening to see how many people immediately drop their defenses and throw everything they have learned over board when they are approached by these deceptive evil beings with a fake smile.

The reptilians refer to human empathy as a weakness. And sadly, when dealing with them it really is. It is very difficult for people to accept the true nature of these entities which is radically different to their own. They are not empathic, they are not friendly, they are not wise. They are unspiritual, deceptive, psychopathic, demented, parasitic savages. They like to be bad, they like do and be evil, they like to deceive, steal, manipulate and destroy.

And that's the absolute majority of them, not a minority.

Here people often make the grave mistake to judge them by human standards, believing that with them it would be just the same as it is with us.

They often say something like: "Some humans are bad, but most are good and it's ignorant to say that it would be different with reptilians!"

Wrong! They are not humans, and not everyone is like humans are. And therefore can't be judged by the same standards. There ARE races, groups, planets even galaxies and entire realms that are and are inhabited by beings that are negatively oriented. That are service to self, that are parasitic, that are evil. Whose cultures/civilizations/soul orientation revolve around war, conquest, subjugation, assimilation under their control, into their empires and dominions.

It's difficult for humans to understand as free-will is not heavily restricted on earth. But on other places it is. There are entire solar systems that are under the control of such collectives in which every inhabitant is implanted with Nano-technology and has their thoughts monitored 24/7 and thoughts downloaded and uploaded to them. Where resistance to that control system by individuals is nearly impossible.

This is shown in the theme of the Borg, a hive mind directed collective of beings with Nano-technology implanted. It's difficult for humans to understand that out of 1 billion Borg there is not a single benevolent Borg! Every out of these 1 billion Borg will do them harm, will assimilate them or destroy them if they resist.

And if people won't realize all that in time, this will end bad for the human race. It will end with the total assimilation of humanity into the Nordic-Reptilian-Mantis-Grey collective as another slave race. It will be the end of free-will, the end of freedom, the end of organic bodies, the end of love, creativity, everything.

Therefore it is up to us, to those who are street-smart and won't allow these deceptive beings to prey on our emotions and empathy, to reveal them for what and who they really are. And stand strong in our conviction based on logic, substantial knowledge, spiritual discernment and true understanding.

Nordics are above reptilians and greys in chain of command, therefore as long as a source does expose reptilians and greys without exposing negative Nordics, it is automatically of an ignorant or negative origin because the Nordic alien savior element is absolute key in the alien agenda.

The ultimate goal is to get human civilization under alien control. Overt alien control. Externalization of the hierarchy going from covert (for thousands of years) to overt as with the change of our vibrational environment and as a consequence expanding awareness, followed by insight and understanding, they can no longer stay hidden.

But in order to rule openly they will have to be accepted by the masses.

(...Peeeeeeeeeep, high pitched ear ringing with slight uncomfortable ear pressure. Some telepathic being seems interested in what I'm writing about alien strategies. No i do not have Tinnitus. And it always correlates with writing long insightful texts like these. What a strange coincidence.)

Reptilians wouldn't be accepted by the masses initially. Christians will go berserk when hissing snakes show up! And even regular average folks will mistrust those scaly, slit-pupiled, cold-blooded, tongue-flicking Alligators.

What they are aware of, even Bridget Nielsen admitted in an interview that reptilians would show up much further down the line, after the public "learned to accept" an alien presence. If it's not Lizards that show up first, who else?

Greys will be more commonly accepted but not too much either when actually encountered in person. After all they are upright walking grey fetuses with large black eyes ...what the actual fuck? It's fun when they are dressed in hip hop clothes smoking joints on posters, or watching Roger on American Dad, but having the existence of these odd things confirmed is something else. Especially the 2.50m (7feet) tall ones.

This is all very different with Nordics who do look like us, and who even many Christians will accept as angels.

In short, the aliens totally depend on the Nordic option. And if they have to make sacrifices in their agenda in order to protect that option, they will do it.

If that means that they have to initially bad-mouth their reptilian and grey lackeys and their human Satanist friends (or even blast some of them), they'll do it.

That can be rationalized and reversed later, once the first shock about aliens being real has passed and people, as Nielsen said, will be more accepting.

It is 2017! A year in which most researcher have anticipated that the world by that point has already made public contact with aliens. And yet we are still far from that.

With people getting increasingly more insightful, aware and politically as well as Exo-politically educated by the way. To the very detriment of these aliens, as they require us to be:

A: Ignorant to their agenda, strategies and tactics

B: Not reaching a point in consciousness development that would grant us the status of a fully sentient race. As that would elevate us into a metaphysical jurisdiction that they can't enter without massive karmic backlash when further continuing their hostilities against us.

They want full control, not by force, but by conviction or if possible devotion. They seek to win the minds and hearts of people.

They could try it with arguments, but humans are emotional beings, far less open to reason than to emotional impulses. Hence what they need is to create an emotional bond. And the easiest way to assure that is by saving humans out of a dire situation. Eternal gratitude will be the consequence being perceived as the saviors of the planet or the human race.

But their most promising project world war 3 just won't get started and people lose their belief into man-made climate change. All the opportunities that could have been exploited for a savior scenario are crumbling.

The negative alien groups are under desperate compulsion to move. They are losing all options.

These negative alien groups keep adapting to the circumstances. Their eventual agenda finalization cannot be narrowed down to one manifestation as it continuously changes. A decade ago their preferred final solution looked very different from the few last options available they now believe could be successful.

Imagine them like a burning wrecked space ship, with most decks on fire. And now they are blowing off sections of their ship in order to channel all life sustaining resources to the bridge (the Nordic Saviors). And if the Lizard section and the Grey section have to be blown up to save the bridge, well next thing astronomers will notice are green body parts floating in the vacuum.

The way that will manifest in the world is by probably Nordics going bonkers and in an act of last desperation blowing up the Buckingham palace with a particle canon, to then make a world wide broadcast in which they present the head of the lizard queen and proclaim ceremonially: "See, we killed the lizard queen, we are the good guys, now put us in control over you already, stupid humans! ..Oh uhm, ehm, we mean dear beloved human space brothers. Ashtar out."

Whacked out circus stuff is to be expected.

Closing this article by briefly addressing the often raised question: "But what about good reptilians?"

Their reputation throughout human history is consistently negative. They are not known for building hospitals or ending wars. They are known for building sacrifice pyramids, releasing plagues and causing wars among humans.

The names given to them in every culture reveal their hostile nature. Vampires, Gargoyles, Hydras, Cobras, Fire-Dragons. Animals whether real or mythological either vicious, venomous or parasitic. There are no positive descriptions of them in any culture.

Wings, tails, horns, claws, fangs, scales, snake tongues, hissing is how demons are mostly described in demonology, Christian and other. And that describes reptilians.

The devil the old serpent. Christian iconography and history is full of battles against reptilians. A large portion of all European paintings show knights fighting dragons and snake like humanoids.

When they are historically graphically depicted, then inside caves stuffed with mutilated human corpses on which they feast. With Knights in iron armor battling against them. Saint George against the dragon, Saint Patrick against the snakes.

Fairies, Serpents, Changelings, Undine, Shapeshifter. Known in all cultures, known for being hostile towards humans in all cultures.

In the Nag Hammadi texts written by the ancient Christian Gnostics they even explicitly described as large humanoid reptiles, alongside smaller grey fetus appearing creatures (the greys). Also antagonistic towards humans.

After thousands of years of deceit, abduction, manipulation, exploitation, slavery, war, blood sacrifice and terror orchestrated by vile reptilian filth, the very last thing that should interest people is if good reptilians exist or not.

While that might be the case, their numbers if they should exist would be very small and other matters are of greater relevance and need to be addressed first.

As we saw in the video above, in their own admission, the allegedly benevolent ones admit that they are VERY FEW in number. This is not a religious text saying it, this is not me saying it, this is not someone else saying it, this is they themselves admitting it.

The majority of them are antagonistic towards humans and conspire and collaborate with each other systematically in an organized manner to conquer earth realm and extermination of mankind.

Human civilization is controlled by them. As research reveals and by their own admission. Not by heir few, but by their majority. Rockefellers, Rothschild's and the other bloodline dynasties don't rule the world by themselves. Human civilization is controlled by a network of pyramidal structures and every pyramid In academia, pharmacy, law, industry, economy, media, banking, sport, etc. is at the top controlled by several of their kind.

Yet they do not only control us from the top, but from top to bottom on all levels of society. They are policemen, nurses and shop-owners, even protestors at the street corner.

Their control of society requires tens of thousands maybe hundreds of thousands to be involved, not just some bloodline geezers.

They hide their true appearance while blaming humans for the crimes they commit in our name, while demonically smirking when referring to themselves as being human beings.

They are deceivers and frauds and they can't be trusted.

First we need to stop them from starting wars, from broadcasting fake news, from staging hoax events, from disarming the population, from suppressing technological innovation and medical cures.

We need to put an end to the by them controlled blood bank industry, to their parasitical exploitation of our planet for its minerals and metals and to their criminal secretive activities including abduction, hybridization and scientific testing on humans.

Their global pedophilia networks need to be shut down. Their global pharmacology and psychiatric industry needs to be shut down.

All their underground facilities from which they organize their hostile activities against the surface population need to be shut down. All joint projects ended. All experiments canceled. All prisoners released.

The organized bio-chemical onslaught on humanity needs to stop. Chemtrails, GMO need to be forbidden.

All nuclear power plants need to be safely shut down and dismantled.

All stolen, suppressed technology revealed and returned.

We need to know how many activists, researcher and whistleblowers were assassinated that discovered their existence, presence and involvement in human affairs.

We need to know about every single method and way of interference in human live. How many relationships were destroyed by them, how many networks busted, how many friendships ruined.

We want every last dollar drained out of human civilization by reptilian parasites in human disguise returned. Every real estate must be returned. Every art piece.

We want every last piece of metal stolen by alien parasites and brought to their moon returned. Or compensated for in equal worth if it was used already.

Every single reptilian deceiver and proxy operative needs to be removed from every position of decision making in human civilization. This is a human civilization not a reptilian playground.

They need to be identified, exposed and judged for their crimes.

These are the things that matter primarily.
