- Channel 1 At Money in the Bank, six of SmackDown LIVE's best competitors will battle it out in the 2017 Money in the Bank

Ladder Match with the goal of climbing the dreaded rungs and claiming a prized briefcase. With the contract inside that case, the victorious Superstar will guarantee himself a WWE

Championship opportunity any time they wish in the subsequent year.

SmackDown LIVE Commissioner Shane McMahon named the six participants on the May 23 edition of the blue brand: United States Champion Kevin Owens, AJ Styles, Baron Corbin, Sami

Zayn, Dolph Ziggler and Shinsuke

Nakamura.

No stranger to Money in the Bank, or Ladder Matches in general for that matter, the veteran Ziggler will perhaps walk into the June 18 pay-per-view with a distinct advantage. After all, he did ascend to the top of the ladder back in 2012 to capture the coveted briefcase.

WWE Champion Jinder Mahal vs. Randy Orton

Randy Orton will have the home-field advantage when he gets his rematch for the WWE Championship against Jinder Mahal in St. Louis at Money in the Bank tomorrow .

Mahal has proven to be a true thorn in The Viper's side since becoming the No.

1 contender to the title in April. The Modern-Day Maharaja has sneak-attacked Orton on several occasions and even cost him a House of Horrors Match against Bray Wyatt at WWE Payback.

But Mahal sent shockwaves through the WWE Universe at WWE Backlash when he planted The Apex Predator into the canvas with the Khallas and pinned Orton for a three-count to win the WWE

Championship. Now, Mahal's championship mettle will be put to the test at Money in the Bank.

Becky Lynch vs. Charlotte Flair vs. Natalya vs. Tamina vs. Carmella (Women's Money in the Bank Ladder Match)

The SmackDown LIVE Women's division is once again about to prove just how ground-breaking it can be.

At WWE Money in the Bank, Becky Lynch, Charlotte Flair, Natalya, Tamina and Carmella will compete in the first-ever Women's Money in the Bank Ladder Match.

The fuse for the unprecedented showdown was lit during the May 30 edition of SmackDown LIVE when all five

Superstars competed in a 5-Way Elimination Match to determine the new No. 1 contender to SmackDown Women's Champion Naomi at the highly-anticipated June 18 pay-per-view.

None of the athletes proved willing to wait for the bell, though, and a pre-match brawl inevitably broke out, setting the stage for all-out bedlam.

As the dust cleared, SmackDown LIVE Commissioner Shane McMahon picked up the mic and acknowledged just how hungry the five competitors were for a chance at the prestigious title. Taking pride in Team Blue being

The Land of Opportunity, Shane-O-Mac seized the moment to make history by declaring that all five Superstars will square off in the first-ever Women's Money in the Bank Ladder Match.

SmackDown Tag Team Champions The Usos vs. The New Day

It's a new day, yes it is. Or at least Kofi Kingston, Big E & Xavier Woods are hoping it will be when they challenge The Usos for their first SmackDown Tag Team Championship at WWE Money in the Bank, streaming live tonight at 8 ET/5 PT on WWE Network.

On the very same night that the longest-reigning Tag Team Champions in WWE history made their long-awaited reemergence on SmackDown LIVE — their first such appearance since moving to the blue brand in the Superstar Shake-up — they quickly made their case to be The Usos' next challengers, right as Jimmy & Jey were crowing over their two consecutive title defenses against Breezango. Back to full force after an ankle injury felled Kofi Kingston last month, ya boys declared they were rested, ready, and sanctioned by SmackDown LIVE Commissioner Shane McMahon to challenge The Usos straight out of the gate.

SmackDown Women's Champion Naomi vs. Lana

At SmackDown LIVE's WWE Money in the Bank pay-per-view, Lana will make her blue brand in-ring debut when she challenges Naomi for the SmackDown Women's Championship in a match that was made following the turbulent events of the June 6 edition of SmackDown LIVE.

Angered over Commissioner Shane McMahon's decision to deny her from entering the first-ever Women's Money in the Bank Ladder Match, The Ravishing Russian suddenly attacked Naomi during the titleholder's Six-Woman

Tag Team Match.

In response, Naomi's glow turned red, and she demanded that Shane-O-Mac grant Lana a title match against her at the June 18 pay-per-view and promised to "snatch her bald."

Irate over the actions of her Total Divas co-star, the SmackDown Women's Champion is ready for an out-and-out fight. But what will happen when she stands across the squared circle from an opponent with an in-ring style she knows nothing about?
