The alt-right

D by wood » 02 Oct 2016, 06:04

Given how prevalent the alt-right has become, it seemed to make sense to make a thread for them. Though if someone thinks it should remain part of some other thread we have (cough... reddit) then I will merge it.

Anyway...

Operation Google

"the new nigger"

If you've been seeing this around /pol/ you're probably wondering, "why the fuck would we say Google instead of nigger? It's dumb and cringey as fuck". well to answer this it's done after Google's recent announcement to censor certain words looked through their search engine, just to keep safe spaces extra "safe". Our response is to make it so Google would have to censor their own company by making them a racial slur towards blacks.

"That'll never work, its too hard!"
Don't doubt the power of Kek and meme magic. Look at Pepe, Trigglypuff, or Carl the Cuck, the latter being chosen simply based off a dubs post. If we simply call a bunch of black people "Googles" they will 100% be anally devastated. Remember these are the same people that riot over a nameless gang-banger being shot, their skin is fragile and easily penetrated.

"Too reddit for my tastes"
This is hardly close to reddit and if you unironically think that, then maybe you need to go back to reddit.

"Well okay, then how do we get this around?"
Social media, social media, social media. Get this fucking shit trending to the fucking moon. Recently there has been riots in Charlotte so BLM tweets will be nice and fresh for next couple of days. What you do then is respond to these people calling them "stupid fucking googles" or "worthless google, kill yourself" try to make it sound as venomous as possible so they definitely get triggered. Also include some hashtags I'd recommend:
#WorthlessGoogs
#GoogleHangout (include pics of googs being hanged)
#GoogleRiots (whenever some dumb BLM riot happens)
#GooglesGonnaGoog
or #DumbGoogles

Also call Jews-Skypes

GOD SPEED ANONS

This seems almost stupid enough to work in the minds of these dumbasses.

This brought to you by the people who think "cuck" is the world's most effective insult because they wouldn't want to be called that themselves.

Alleged code words aside, I suspect the message of the Alt Right upsets a lot of people because it invokes what terror management theorists in psychology call “mortality salience,” namely, reminders of vulnerability, failure and death. Look up terror management theory and see the experimental support it has - you will see human behavior in a new light once you absorb the theory’s implications.

Specifically, people have finally started to wake up from the fantasy world of the Radical Enlightenment in the 18th Century. This sweeping social experiment - based on pseudoscience about equality, democracy, feminism, human fungibility, the mind as a blank slate, cosmopolitanism, borderlessness, mass immigration, miscegenation and trying to erase the biological distinctions between men and women - has come crashing down around us because it conflicts with man’s nature. “Social progress” can never happen because human nature doesn’t change; and “social justice” remains forever beyond reach because society’s losers, misfits, kooks, weaklings, defectives, scolds, utopians and degenerates have conflicting grievances that they can’t reconcile, especially when it comes to dividing up the shrinking pile of spoils produced by generations of white people’s labor.

In other words, the Alt Right has rediscovered and articulated for our generation the essential tragedy of the human condition. It has become the voice of experience, wisdom and maturity in a world full of delusions that we can no longer sustain. I have my doubts as to whether Donald Trump has really stumbled across this perspective, much less that he knows what to do with it. But thanks to the inadvertent attention he has drawn to the Alt Right, American politics in the 2020’s could look radically different from the nonsense that has damaged the United States for the past few generations.

The Google thing makes me think there's probably some great research to be done in training computers to examine the context in which words are used to figure out whether words which would be innocuous elsewhere are being used as hate speech codewords.

I hate to say anything remotely positive about these guys... but if this whole google as a slur thing comes from the same team that brought Trigglypuff and Carl the Cuck to the world's mind... We might as well give up now. Google will be a slur in a month, three months tops.

Who and what?

Googles.

This is the first time I have heard of either.

Seems like you might be giving them a bit too much credit.

but yeah seriously shout out weirdo /pol/ racists for assuming their strange bullshit has ANY universality like i am on 4chan a lot still cuz i'm a huge loser and i literally only ever see this shit via ppl making fun of it on twitter, like i know angry internet communities are all just hermetically sealed little cliques prone 2 projecting their own values onto the world at large but like here even in the kinda circles where there ostensibly are ppl sympathetic 2 their shit most ppl still find it stupid/distasteful/pointless and outright ignore it rather than even try 2 like, shout these ppl down

Been watching /pol/ occasionally during the election process because we live in an insane 2016 where keeping an eye on a 4Chan board helps give you insight into a chunk of the support for a major party candidate, and I've noticed that when they really want to hurt each others' feelings they accuse each other of LARPing. Which I guess means that on some level they aware that they're just pretending to be a political movement and are ashamed of it.

Speaking of which, popped into /pol/ to see how they're trying to rationalise away the latest run of horrible news for Trump and Martin Shkreli is doing a livestream where he's talking about buying 4Chan.

Thread-relevant because of this bit from his Powerpoint he showed on the stream:

Game Plan

- I will maintain or increase the edge of 4chan. More /b/ more /pol/ more Peepee the Frog, etc. we will measure edginess as metric and put as much priority on it as revenue, MAU & profits
 - Edginess up 40% y/y goal
- I will create revenue channels which are unprecedented, amazing and incredibly successful – believe you me, you will see revenue
 - Ads only???
- Opportunities – we need more memes, more meme lords and meme gods
- Threats – see above – no worries here
