I really thought this would stop after we got rid of all the lurkers.
Guess I was being naïve.

I think we still got a few questionable types who don't post much lurking around like headlice.

edit: I like the new header image they're using, though. I'll give them that.

Clicking on his profile says it doesn't exists, i.e. he was pruned along with all the lurkers.

Scatman logged in today, according to his profile. He only has one single post. It's more likely that he was the one who did it.

Mofo_P has been a lurker in #sonichu since the beginning and he's shady enough there. Though he does greet me and canine and a couple others sometimes. But that's the extent of it.

Not trying to start a witch hunt because I seriously doubt any of us feel up for it, but doesn't sound good enough to me and it doesn't seem to sound good enough for you either

Yeah looks like he very recently got shitcanned, wasn't when I posted that. Good.

While we're on the subject we probably got a half dozen friends of users that got an account based on nothing other than being hilarious in TinyChat one night they got dragged into it, and they all posted for like a day or maybe two then didn't come back.

I do not in any way whatsoever think they're your problem since I kinda doubt most of them even know about CWC but while we're on the subject they're pretty useless accounts and junking them wouldn't be bad

Kitten Wizard is an example, frankly I forget the others but he's not coming back

I think it's time we accepted that this might not be a Lurker.

^doesn't change that the leaker is someone who posted very little & would likely not be missed. also I don't think dagon is answering my pms, has anyone else reached him #sonichu? I say get rid of Mofo-P and just see what happens from there.

Without an IP from Dagon all we can do is make guesses, and even then they could have used a proxy or something so we might not see it. And FS is right, this may be a regular. My point is, like Sully said, without any evidence this just going to be a witch hunt. That said, I'm all for banning lurkers. Greymonchu has been lurking recently and very rarely does anything.
