

1. The Rising Sun Flag As Part Of Japanese Culture

The design of the Rising Sun Flag symbolizes the sun as the Japanese national flag does. This design has been widely used in Japan for a long time.

Today, the design of the Rising Sun Flag is seen in numerous scenes in daily life of Japan, such as in fishermen's banners hoisted to signify large catch of fish, flags to celebrate childbirth, and in flags for seasonal festivities.

Japanese culture and rising sun flags

Priest Kiyomori, an old Kabuki story, by Ginko Adachi, 1885

An ukiyoe print, Lucky gods Visit Enoshima Palace, by Yoshiiku Ochiai, 1869

Daily life and rising sun flags

The return to Sabato port (2017) of fishing boats that had evacuated due to the Great East Japan Earthquake
©Kyodo News Images

People celebrating the opening of the Hokkaido Shinkansen with big fishing flags, 2016
©Kyoto News Images

Reference

● Press Conference by the Chief Cabinet Secretary SUGA, September 26, 2013(AM) (excerpt)

.....As you all know, the design of the Rising Sun Flag is widely used throughout Japan, such as good catch flags used by fishermen, celebratory flags for childbirth and seasonal festivities, and flags of Japan Maritime Self-Defense Force (JMSDF) vessels. Claims that the flag is an expression of political assertions or a symbol of militarism are absolutely false. It appears to me that this is a large misunderstanding.

https://japan.kantei.go.jp/tyoukanpress/201309/26_a.html

2. The Flags of the Maritime Self-Defense Force and the Ground Self-Defense Force As Official Flags of Japan's Self-Defense Forces

The flags of the Maritime Self-Defense Force and the Ground Self-Defense Force employ the design of the Rising Sun, in accordance with the Order for the Enforcement of the Self-Defense Forces Law in 1954.

The flag of the Maritime Self-Defense Force

The flag of the Ground
Self-Defense Force

Ever since these flags were officially designated, they have been hoisted on various occasions, both domestically and internationally.

For more than half a century, these flags have been playing an indispensable role to show the presence of the Self-Defense Forces vessels and units, and are widely accepted in the international community.

Naval event in Tsingtao 2019
(a Maritime Self-Defense Force vessel entering in Tsingtao port)

A parade in Paris in 2018
(a Ground Self-Defense Force unit with a Singaporean unit)

Naval event in Busan 1998
(a Maritime Self-Defense Force vessel entering in Busan port)

The design of the rising sun is widely used in the world.

The design of the rising sun with beams of lights is not unique to Japan. Similar designs are widely used in the world, as seen in the national flag of Republic of North Macedonia, the state flags of Arizona, the U.S. and Lara, Venezuela as well as the flag of the air force of Belarus.

Flag of the Republic of Macedonia
(1995-)

<https://www.vlada.mk/?ln=en-gb>

Flag of Arizona State, the U.S.
(1917-)

<https://az.gov/>

Flag of Lara State, Venezuela
(1901-)

<http://www.lara.gob.ve/site/>

Flag of Belarus Air Force
(2001-)