DEFENDANTS’ FIRST SUPPLEMENT TO MOTION TO DISMISS
UNDER THE TEXAS CITIZENS PARTICIPATION ACT

COME NOW, Defendants Alex E. Jones, Infowars, LLC, Free Speech Systems, LLC, and Owen Shroyer (collectively, the “Defendants”), and hereby file this, their First Supplement to Motion to Dismiss Under the Texas Citizens’ Participation Act and in support thereof would respectfully show this Honorable Court as follows:

In his Response to the Defendants’ Motion, Plaintiff offers opinions of Ms. Binkowski that Owen Shroyer edited the Zero Hedge embedded videos. As shown by the supplemental Affidavit of Owen Shroyer attached hereto, this is not true and Ms. Binkowski’s testimony is speculative because the embedded videos are no longer present for her to compare.

He further claims damages from publication of this particular video by Defendants yet he himself has also published it and has not offered evidence of how his damages arise from Defendants’ publication and not his own.

Defendants have now alleged the defense of self-publication. In particular, Plaintiff Neil Heslin appeared on the April 19, 2018 “Megyn Kelly Today” NBC national program. He appeared with his attorney, Mark Bankston, and published and/or authorized publication of what he claims to be defamatory portions of the video to NBC’s national audience.

At no time did Mr. Heslin or his attorney object to the showing or seem surprised by it. Indeed, subsequent to the showing of it, they were each asked for comments and were allowed to speak. Again, none stated any objection or disagreement to the publication. Evidence of this is contained at the David Jones affidavit attached as Exhibit "B" to the Defendants' Motion to Dismiss at Exhibit B-19, which is a true and correct video of that program.

There is no clear and specific evidence that any of the injuries and damages which Mr. Heslin has claimed were caused separately by this publication by any of the Defendants.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Defendants respectfully requests that this honorable Court grant Defendants' Motion to Dismiss under the Texas Citizens Participation Act in its entirety and the Court grant them such other and further relief as the Court deems equitable, just and proper.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

GLAST, PHILLIPS & MURRAY, P.C.

Megyn Kelly Fails To Fact Check Sandy Hook Father's Contradictory Claim In Alex Jones Hit Piece

The Truth About the World

Content originally published at iBankCoin.com

Last Sunday's exposé of Alex Jones on NBC's Sunday Night With Megyn Kelly was considered by many to be a tasteless and heavily edited attempt to smear the Infowars host and vocal supporter of Donald Trump. Despite a week of heavy promotion, the segment backfired - sending Kelly's ratings further into the toilet a week after her embarrassing interview with Russian President Vladimir Putin - an encounter which director Oliver Stone said she was 'not prepared for.'

This lack of preparation was obvious in the Jones interview - as Kelly and NBC aired footage of the grieving father of a Sandy Hook massacre victim which contains a major contradiction to the official story.

Neil Heslin

Prominently featured in the expose is Neil Heslin - a father of one of the victims. During his interview with Megyn Kelly, Heslin described what happened the day of the shooting when 20 year old Adam Lanza murdered 20 children and six adults at Sandy Hook Elementary school before committing suicide.

I dropped him off at 9:04. That's when we dropped him off at school with his book bag. Hours later I was picking' him up in a body bag.

I lost my son. I buried my son. I held my son with a bullet hole through his head.

Except this does not comport with the official story

Jim Fetzer, Professor Emeritus at the University of Minnesota who wrote a book claiming Sandy Hook was staged, notes that based on the facts of the case, Heslin's statement that he 'held his son with a bullet hole through his head' could not have happened. According to Coroner Wayne Carver, M.D., the parents of the victims weren't allowed to see their children's bodies - and were instead shown pictures to identify the deceased. Anderson Cooper even interviewed the parents of one of the victims about not being able to see their child.

According to Coroner Wayne Carver, M.D., the parents of the victims weren't allowed to see their children's bodies - and were instead shown pictures to identify the deceased. Anderson Cooper even interviewed the parents of one of the victims about not being able to see their child.

While it's entirely possible that Mr. Heslin had access to his son after the shooting, given the highly contentious nature of the Sandy Hook massacre in which every aspect of the case has been pored over and dissected – it was incumbent upon Megyn Kelly and NBC to familiarize themselves with all sides of the argument so they could have identified and explained Heslin's statement.

By airing such an obvious contradiction to the official narrative, Megyn Kelly and NBC have lent credibility to Fetzer and other conspiracy researchers who often point to inconsistent reports from the MSM to support their theories.

She lied...

While Megyn Kelly can be heard weeks before the interview on a leaked recording promising Jones that the segment wouldn't be a 'hit job,' a promo released by NBC revealed she lied – as it was obvious Kelly was going to focus on statements made on Infowars about the 2012 massacre at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, MA committed by Adam Lanza.

She's a lawyer. It was a total cross-examination. And when I said that I believe children died at Sandy Hook, as I've said for years, she kept coming back with answers saying "you believe nobody died! You believe Anderson Cooper was involved!" and I said "NO! My listeners questioned it, I had debates with both sides, and I played devil's advocate." -Alex Jones

As a result of NBC's decision to air the piece, several corporate sponsors pulled advertisements, Megyn Kelly was disinvented to an anti 2nd Amendment event, and Jones implored NBC not to air the segment on Father's Day – citing the inappropriate timing.

Sandy Hook Questions

The final report on the Sandy Hook shooting concludes that Adam Lanza, 20, was a socially awkward lone gunman with unmedicated Obsessive Compulsive Disorder whose mother gave him negligent access to firearms – however several inconsistencies in the official report have led many to speculate that the incident was a hoax or a 'false flag' staged to justify gun control measures

Among the questions people have

- Why were there reports of men dressed in camouflage who fled into the woods – one of whom police allegedly detained?
- Why does Sandy Hook father Robbie Parker appear to 'get into character'?
- Why does the Sandy Hook Elementary website have no internet archive for four years? Was the school even open?
- Why does it appear that several charities were set up before the December 14th shooting?
- Why weren't the Victims' parents allowed to see their children's bodies?

While several Sandy Hook questions have been debunked – such as the missing internet archive, the massacre remains a hotly contested topic across the internet.

Alex Jones' official position is that he believes children died in the shooting – in fact, during a 2014 account of a hearing before the Newtown Board of Education, an Infowars journalist "did not dispute that Adam Lanza had perpetrated the shooting."

4. A man from Infowars did not dispute that Adam Lanza had perpetrated the shooting. Instead he emphasized how law-abiding gun owners in Connecticut and elsewhere are being "penalized" because of Sandy Hook, and the importance of the Second Amendment to freedom and the American way of life.

Yet despite Jones' official position, he and Infowars have played devil's advocate along the way – presenting facts and narratives which disagree with the official story.

And while Jones has presented a number of angles to the Sandy Hook massacre, Megyn Kelly and NBC chose to distort the facts through their lens of propaganda to fit their case against the Infowars host, while airing a gaping hole in the official story in their quest to destroy Alex Jones.

This needs to be addressed

By failing to identify the obvious contradiction between Neil Heslin's account and the official story, Kelly and her network have fanned the very flames of doubt and conspiracy they sought to silence, creating more questions than answers.

For the sake of all the Sandy Hook parents who weren't allowed to see their deceased children, and to settle this new piece of fodder for conspiracy theorists which they aired, Megyn Kelly and NBC have a responsibility to address this giant contradiction to the official story

For a thinking population with truly open minds this would be the historical smoking gun that would have brought down Washington and the Elitist Luciferian machine. The fact that it is ignored is a testament to the effectiveness of the mass brainwashing that Americans have allowed themselves to be subjected to.

A basic tenet of the brain washing is self worship - which is also a basic tenet of luciferianism. It has the useful side effect of causing those caught up in it to ignore what is going on around them. For the ones caught up in the red/blue distrction - it enables them to offload their personal guilt and feel self righteous (blue) or feel like they are intellectually superior to the other team (blue and red) - among many other blind and foolish behaviors. It is very sad - but to the propagandists in dc, we as a group behave as primates when it comes to their brainwashing. Hairless apes - with truly rare exception. So rare that to them, it does not even constitute a threat

Also, a basic tenet of USA journalism these days is it must be at least 90% Fake to make it into the MSM like CNN, NYT, NPR or WaPO and edited by the DNC before air time.

Meghan Kelly's is being made a mockery in the media now. I bet before the year is over she will be out or demoted on NBC. The problem is that she doesn't have a whole network willing and able to backup BS lies and or propaganda like Fox did. Don't get me wrong MSNBC does do propaganda but not where near like Fox did, because at the end of the day MSNBC is alot bigger than Fox and has it's hands on both sides of the political spectrum and they know to dance the middle.

...more to ones bigger than 100 and that is a hands on both sides of the political spectrum and they know to dance the middle.

Perhaps elements of the government merely abducted the Sandy Hook children with the permission of some of the parents and threats to the children of parents who resisted. A large fund is being provided for the children's education and the parents can visit their children once a month. Their names will be changed and their silence will be bought for the rest of their lives with a big carrot and the threat of a big stick if they break. Or maybe it's something else.

0 Not half as nuts as our psychopathic deep state furthers like Obomba, Holder, and Cheney. According to the leading expert deconstructionist analyst, Ole Demmegard, most "terror events" in the USSA and Europe over the last five years are staged with crisis actors. Every once and a while they hire Blackwater type killers and then pin it on some patsies like in San Bernardino. A JFK style hit redux. Hidden professional killers - and real patsies who are killed before making it to trial. But hoaxes are cheaper and they don't have pissed off, real, grieving relatives wanting real facts and the truth like with 9/11 The objective of these miscreants is not to kill people. They get their fill of slaughtering people every day in Syria, Yemen, and Libya. These are psy-ops to manipulate the public psyche in the USA or Europe. It doesn't matter if it is real as long as the public thinks it's real and behaves accordingly. PROBLEM>REACTION>SOLUTION. Please, please protect us helpless assholes from these evil killers!! OK, just give up your guns and your Constitutional rights. Better than Bitcoin as a recent investment. <http://www.crisis-solutions.com> And let us not forget the blue screen Sandy Hoax role of CNN's, only the facts m'am, Anderson Vanderbilt Cooper, MK Ultra graduate and CIA intern (?). The Truman Show presented as real life drama.

0 CT conveniently passed a law making it illegal to divulge any information about deaths of children, even though experts said there was no need for it and it would only prevent proper forensic or historical investigations surrounding such deaths. This psyop was planned long in advance at the highest levels of the covert world.

0 Heck folks, a casual you-tube search reveals shit-tons of video evidence that sandy hook was a total 'made for TV scripted event'. One of my favorites is the aerial footage of the supposed 'families' cycling through a nearby emergency response building (fire-station or something) in a neat stream of movement. The goal being to promote the appearance of a flurry of response activity related to this 'massacre'. These actors were literally walking out one door of the building, weaving through other actors milling around, rounding to the front of the building and re-entering ... only to emerge again moments later and literally repeat the cycle. It's disgustingly obvious.

0 FBI also hid the evidence of 50+ cameras of what hit the Pentagon on 9-11. It appears that it was a missile, not a plane.

0 It is impossible for a 757 to maneuver the way it supposedly did especially so close to the ground. Alos, it doesn't matter what the circumstances are surrounding an airplane crash, there are always the engine cores and the main landing gear beams and struts that survive. The engine cores are made of very high strength, high temperature alloys. The main landing gear beams and struts are made from very tough, special steel alloys. Yet none were recovered from the 757 that allegedly hit the Pentagon on 9/11.

You would think they would get their stories straight beforehand. Coroner says parents never saw their dead children. Fake father says he picked up the body bag of his son Just like with so many false flag events like 9-11, a stunning sloppiness becomes apparent. In their arrogance, the globalists take for granted the sheeplish blind allegiance and comatose state. Of course they know their handicapping agenda using vaccines, fluoride, GMOs and chemtrails is usually sufficient to guarantee a state of confusion, anxiety and a blind allegiance to the state.

Regarding the sloppiness, 90% of people won't notice and so will swallow the official story, and the 10% who do notice the anomalies being discussed will alert the authorities to their doubts by sending URL's of debunking sites and videos to their friends AND the NSA unwittingly, thereby alerting authorities to their hostility to the regime.

 Adam Lanza existed. I know someone who lives in Newtown CT that had met the Lanza Family. I also know someone that lost a child in the attack.
 The issue is that Lanza was prescribed SSRI prescription Drugs (Same as James Holmes in Colorado) as well as Columbine.

Live TV

go away (and why they should)

By Doug Criss, CNN

🕒 Updated 2:24 PM ET, Wed February 21, 2018

(CNN) — There are some popular -- and thoroughly debunked -- conspiracy theories that keep popping up after every mass shooting. Sandy Hook was fake. The Vegas shooting was carried out by multiple shooters. Columbine was a result of bullying.

Add to that, a new cottage industry of conspiracy theories that's already springing up around the high school massacre in Parkland, Florida.

Why do some people dream up such awful things at a time of great tragedy? Why do so many people believe them? And can anything be done to stop it?

Before we get to that, let's examine the conspiracy theories that will not go away.

A woman cries during a candlelight vigil for the victims of the shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School

The conspiracy theory: Many of the students who survived the shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, have been very vocal about gun control.

That's led to accusations the students aren't really students at all. Memes and videos on YouTube claim some of the students are "actors" working for anti-gun groups who travel around the country to the sites of mass shootings. In fact, one of the top trending videos on YouTube this week alleged the same thing.

The truth: That's just plain crazy, one of the outspoken kids told CNN. "I'm not a crisis actor," student David Hogg said on "AC360" Tuesday. "I'm someone who had to witness this and live through this and I continue to be having to do that." It prompted US Sen. Marco Rubio felt the need to come to the students' defense:

"Claiming some of the students on TV after Parkland are actors is the work of a disgusting group of idiots with no sense of decency," he tweeted.

Las Vegas

The damaged windows on the 32nd floor room that was used by the shooter in the Mandalay Hotel

The conspiracy theory: The investigation into the October massacre that killed 58 people at a country music festival in Las Vegas ID'd Stephen Paddock as the only shooter. But don't tell the conspiracy theorists that. They claim there were multiple shooters. So many kooky theories and untruths on the shooting flooded the internet that YouTube changed its search algorithm to stop these conspiracy theories from bubbling to the top of searches.

The truth: While it's true that investigators named two people as persons of interest in the early days of the investigation, neither have been charged with a crime. One was Paddock's girlfriend who has since been publicly cleared in the case. The other was a business associate.

Sandy Hook

The conspiracy theory: The murders of 20 children and six adults at Sandy Hook Elementary School in December 2012 were shocking. But the fact there are people out there who believe it didn't happen is downright stupefying. The false narrative that Newtown, Connecticut, massacre was faked by the government is pushed by a number of conspiracy theorists, including Inforwars founder Alex Jones.

The truth: "They don't think anything bad ever happens, they don't think anyone ever gets hurt," Len Pozner, whose 6-year-old son Noah was killed in the shooting, told CNN in 2016. "They think whenever they see anything on the web or on television that is a crime or mass casualty event, that has to be a hoax." When Pozner began to see the hoax content appearing online, he worked to take down every video depicting false evidence, and created an organization called the HONR Networks to help him do so.

Columbine

Two students, Dylan Klebold, and Eric Harris, carrying guns and bombs, opened fire inside Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, on April 20, 1999

The conspiracy theory: Thirteen people were killed -- 12 students and a teacher -- on April 20, 1999, when a pair of students went on a shooting rampage at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, one of the first school shootings to shock the nation. The conspiracy theory goes the shooters were part of a group called the Trench Coat Mafia who attacked their fellow students because they felt they had been bullied.

The truth: That's the popular misconception that persists to this day, says journalist Dave Cullen, author of the book "Columbine." The killers weren't part of the Trench Coat Mafia (most members of that group had graduated years earlier); they weren't bullied by other students and that they didn't target popular jocks, African-Americans or any other group, Cullen says. A school shooting wasn't their initial intent, he told CNN in 2009. They wanted to bomb their school in an attack they hoped would make them more infamous than Oklahoma City bomber Timothy McVeigh.

The reason behind this misinformation spread

So why do so many people believe these theories?

Brooke Binkowski, managing editor of the fake news-busting website Snopes.com, said people who dream up and spread these untruths about tragedies probably never learned the most basic thing about compassion.

"These mass shootings -- who would fake these? You can't fake these horrible situations," said Binkowski, a journalist whose career includes stints at Southern California Public Radio, CBS Radio and CNN. "I've covered their aftermaths myself and you cannot fake the smell of blood nor the way phones ring and ring and ring as people desperately try to talk to their loved ones, one last time."

Related Video: Shooting survivor: I'm not a crisis actor 02:24

And the work of disentangling reality from a web of distortions dressed up as fact has become a persistent struggle for large segments of the population, a psychology professor said.

"People are constantly bombarded with information from so many different sources and it isn't always easy to work out what is true and what is false, and which sources are credible and which are not," Karen Douglas, a professor of social psychology at the University of Kent in the UK told CNN in 2016.

"Tens of millions of people believe in conspiracy theories," Dartmouth political science professor Brendan Nyhan told CNN. "There's a group of people that believe in a lot of them, but there's a much broader group that is willing to endorse them in certain cases. It's not a reflection of mental illness or pathology. It's a common thing that otherwise smart and well-informed people do."

Related Article: Where fake news goes to die

While conspiracy theories aren't anything new, what is new is the rate of proliferation and speed at which the dark whispers turn to public pronouncements, thanks to social media and the internet.

"Someone like Alex Jones (of the Infowars website) can amplify the most effective conspiracy theories and spread them to a large audience," Nyhan said. "Sean Hannity, too. We've seen memes jump from the fever swamp online to Hannity and Alex Jones and even Donald Trump's Twitter feed very quickly -- people like that can harvest the conspiracy theories that they think are most interesting or entertaining or shocking."

How they can be stopped

The best way to combat this, said Binkowski, is by constant debunking, but also by pointing a finger at people with big media platforms who spread this garbage.

"We are debunking them as fast as we can. I am also aggressively calling out the people who are pushing these stories as part of my strategy," she said. "Not just because I find it disgusting, but also because when others see how fast they fold when confronted with facts, I think it helps discredit those pushing things that should be discredited."

CNN's Nicole Chavez, Heather Kelly, Sara Sidner, Steve Almasy, Marisa Russell and Gregory Krieg contributed to this story.
