RUFUS WAINWRIGHT AND BJÖRK...YAY!

Both in the same month? There is a god!

by Jimmy R. Smith

email Jimmy at: TWTdallas@aol.com

Coming out as a homosexual while still in his teens, Wainwright sought solace in opera throughout his adolescent years, also becoming an enormous fan of performers including Edith Piaf, Al Jolson, and Judy Garland. After attending the prestigious Millbrook School in upstate New York, he briefly studied music at Montreal's McGill University, eventually turning away from classical performance toward pop and rock. Becoming a fixture on the Montreal club circuit, Wainwright soon cut a series of demos with producer Pierre Marchand; Loudon Wainwright III then passed a copy of the tape to friend Van Dyke Parks, who in turn handed it on to DreamWorks exec Lenny Waronker. The label signed him soon after, resulting in the release of Rufus Wainwright during the spring of 1998.

There is something to be said about being consistent. Mr. Wainwright delivers with stellar stars that nonetheless bring a good tear to my eye with his latest album Release The Stars. The introspective tones from his previous albums evolve more and more from the song "going to a town" which, seems like a throw back to when all things were kosher with "Poses" and "What A Wonderful World". This new album brings a much more complete and fully developed persona that is more of an evolution of a continuous personal development. It includes personal satire of the state of the union to the current tidbits of a recent relationship; this man covers all bases that is juicier than a supermarket tabloid. A classical approach of arpeggiatic themes seem to resonate at a dramatic rate that by the end of the album it ends in a orgasmic conclusion of all the lush, full, and happy feelings that highlight all that is Rufus. "Release the Stars", a song that is produced by Pet shop boy Neil Tennat and backing vocals sung by Martha Wainwright, what really can go wrong?

And, as if all that wasn't good enough... Bjork has released her new studio album Volta this month. This is her 6th full-length and follows the release of Medulla, back in 2004.

Bjork has collaborated with several talents for this offering including Anthony (Anthony and the Johnsons) singing on 2 tracks, and Timbaland, who works on with her on beats that she created for three of the songs.

Additional artists on Volta include electronic pioneer Mark Bell and Brian Chippendale from the Lightnig Bolt. Considering how much sonic and emotional territory the album spans -- from the brash, anthemic "Declare Independence," which sounds a bit like Homogenic's "Pluto," to "Pneumonia" and "Vertebrae by Vertebrae," which are as elliptical and gentle as anything on Vespertine or Drawing Restraint 9 -- Volta could very easily sound scattered, but this isn't the case. Instead, it finds the perfect balance between the vibrancy of her poppier work in the '90s and her experiments in the 2000s.

Bjork first came to prominence as one of the lead vocalists of the avant-pop Icelandic sextet the Sugarcubes, but when she launched a solo career after the group's 1992 demise, she quickly eclipsed her old band's popularity. Instead of following in the Sugarcubes' arty guitar rock pretensions, Bjork immersed herself in dance and club culture, working with many of the biggest names in the genre, including Nellee Hooper, Underworld, and Tricky. Debut, her first solo effort (except for an Icelandic-only smash released when she was just 11 years old), not only established her new artistic direction, but it became an international hit, making her one of the '90s most unlikely stars.

And that's music... This week in Texas.

EVENTS

Dallas

The Dallas Tavern Guild once again presents its Voice of Pride competition - a chance for Metroplex-area vocalists to showcase their talents and represent the GLBT community in a positive and inspiring image. Preliminary competitions begin on Wednesday, June 6th, in The Rose Room of S4, and continue throughout the month at various venues in the Oak Lawn area. Elimination dates this year are Sunday, July 8 and Wednesday, July 11, with semi-finals scheduled for Sunday, July 22 at the Round-up Saloon. Final competition will be held on August 5, once again in The Rose Room of S4. For more information about this event, please view their website at dallastavernguild.org.

The Pegasus Slow-Pitch Softball Association presents its annual Switch Hitter's Ball on Sunday, June 3 from 8 pm - 2 am at the Round-up, 3912 Cedar Springs. Dubbed "On With the Show," the event will showcase the other talents of members of all twenty-two teams in the league, and proceeds will be used to help qualifying teams attend the Gay Softball World Series. This isn't your usual entertainment! For more information, please contact the Round-up at 214-522-9611.

Houston

The Bayou City plays host to the 18th Annual Lone Star Classic softball tournament this weekend, May 25-27, at the Slo-Pitch City Softball Park, 1826 Gaul Road in North Houston. The event boasts league play on both Saturday and Sunday, plus a Saturday night social at Guava Lamp from 8-10 pm and banquet and awards ceremony at Rich's from 6:30-9:30 pm on Sunday. For more information, please visit the League's website at montrosesoftballeague.com.

The Lesbian Health Initiative will present a Health Fair next Saturday, June 2, from 8:15 am until 3:15 pm at the Montrose Clinic, 215 Westheimer. The fair, which is open to Lesbian, Bisexual and Transgender women only, will provide cholesterol checks, blood pressure and blood glucose checks, breast exams, blood typing, health and wellness education, durable medical power of attorney and advance directive information and free mammograms in collaboration with MD Anderson Cancer Center's Mobile Mammography Program. For more information, please visit the LHI website at lhihouston.org.

San Antonio

If you love bargains - and who doesn't? - then you don't want to miss the Alamo City Men's Chorale's Rummage Sale, being held tomorrow, Saturday May 26, 2007, from 9 am until 4 pm at 120 W. Lullwood. All proceeds from the event will benefit the Chorale's efforts to unite the community through music. For more information, please visit their website at acmc-texas.org.

Guerrilla Queer Bar (GQB), a monthly social event for Queer folk and their fabulous friends, will "invade" a straight bar between 6:00 and 9:00 tonight to socialize while raising the level of style in the bar. In order to keep the friendly invasion a surprise for the bar, a "troop alert" will be emailed to GQB folks the day before, Thursday, June 7. To learn more and join the Yahoo Group for GQB, visit groups.yahoo.com/group/gqbsa.

Waco

The Central Texas Metropolitan Community Church celebrates its 21st Anniversary this weekend, May 26-27, with a very special slate of activities and events to commemorate the auspicious event. On Saturday evening, there will be a potluck dinner in the Social Hall that will include a visit with the church's very special guest for the weekend, Rev. Elder Darlene Garner, as well as the Pastor's Awards, which will be presented to those who have made an impact on the church over the past year. Then, on Sunday, Rev. Elder Garner delivers a message of hope to the congregation during the regular service. For more information, please visit the church website at www.home.earthlink.net/~ctmccfth.

The Royal and Sovereign Imperial Court of the Central Texas Empire proudly presents the Central Texas Turn-a-Bout Show on Friday, June 1 at 9 pm at The Eddie & Velma Dwyer Community Center, 507 Jefferson at Fifth Street. Hosted by Absolute Empress 12 Kathryn "Kat" Matthews, the show benefits McCares - the McClennan County HIV/AIDS Resources and Education Service - and the Eddie & Velma Dwyer Community Center, and is a chance for the boys to be girls and the girls to be boys. For more information, please visit the Court website at centraltexasempire.org.

If you'd like a community or special event listed in our Events column, please e-mail the details of the event to twtmagazine@aol.com, EVENTS in the subject line.

DEAR DIVA

Dear Diva:

I need your advice. I have a boyfriend that is really cute and does pretty much everything I ask. The problem is, every free moment he has all he wants to do is play that damn Playstation. Now I know I am a little older than him, and video games were not a part of my childhood, so I really try not to say anything about it - but that's all he does. He doesn't even think of sex until he absolutely has to go to bed to get some rest. How can I get him interested in something that involves him and me, instead of him and that devil machine! Did I mention he is 47? Doncha think he should just grow up, or am I being an insensitive ass?

Dallas Daddy

Dear Big D:

Yes, you're being an insensitive ass. Just because all you can remember is Pong, honey, please don't hate the man because he's into The Elder Scrolls. Or, is it that he prefers THOSE elder scrolls to yours? You didn't mention whether or not this young-at-heart paramour of yours is gainfully employed and pulls his weight around the house, but I'm assuming by the fact that you've stated that he does "pretty much everything I ask" that getting him to contribute to household expenses and take out the trash isn't the problem. Therefore, the problem as I see it is that the young 'un isn't playing with you as much as he is the station - and therein lies the lack of rub. When these things happen, dearie, it's usually because there is a decided lack of interest in all things connubial, and nine times out of ten the reason for that is that the person lacking attention has let themselves go - either physically, emotionally or...hell, no, it's physically. So....have you? Huh? You sportin' a few extra pounds, bucko? Forgotten to put that face mask on one two many times before you go to sleep? Neglected basic hygiene?? Huh? Have you? Or, worse yet, do you hound him or nag him and make him resent the very air that you breathe? Has sex become an expected household "chore?" Men are very consistent, my pet, when it comes to the sex department. No self-respecting, red-blooded male would EVER choose a Playstation over an orgasm, unless the person with whom they traditionally experience that bliss is an odiferant, buck-toothed harpy- and even then, any port in a storm for the most part. So, all of your whining about not getting enough of the guy's attention should immediately cease, and you should look deep within your raggedy little soul and ask yourself: Why is he choosing Playstation over me? What does Playstation have that I don't have? Why isn't my joystick exciting to him anymore?? Now, there is another side to this debate....the side that argues that we have become so dependent upon technology that we are missing-out on more traditional entertainment options, such as sex. To that I say: Balderdash! People are having very intimate relations with their PCs all the time, honey, and it's usually because they don't have to listen to whining; they don't have to overlook the physical imperfections of their partners; and, they don't have to get out of their boxer briefs to do it. So, if you wanna win in the battle with THE perfect lover - Internet porn and, by extension, games - you'd better be damned sure you're at your peak level of allure to get any of the attention your boyfriend is lavishing on virtual reality. It's sad, it's not fair - but, it's true. For all of the benefits of technology, we've somehow placed ourselves in the position that we have to work harder than ever on a human level just to achieve a modicum of success.

Dear Diva,

It's me girl, Kandy. What were you thinking? I asked you what bald Hollywood Hunk you would have rub their head across your ass and you said "Bruce Willis." Are you retarded? What about Vin Diesel? Hell, I would let even let Lawrence Fishburne from the Matrix or Sam Jackson from Star Wars go to rubbin. Please take your pick back and admit you were too quick to reply.

Kandy Korea

Dear KK:

No, not gonna take it back. Bruce is sexy, period. And he's the shorn guy that I would most like to have rub my ass with his pate. Now, having said that....girl, who the hell are you? I've never met you before in my life, and I have no clue why you would think that we are somehow friends. And even if we were friends, where do you come off telling me to change the answer to your stupid question? You're lucky that I even replied to the damned thing. You wanted my opinion, I gave it...now don't go trying to tell me how I'm supposed to feel. Jeeze....the nerve of some people.

Uncertain about life and love? Don't know whether or not you can get away with the string bikini? Unaware of the proper etiquette for the funeral of the man that outed you after you trysted in the backseat of an AMC Pacer? The Diva can help! Write her at twt-magazine@aol.com, Subject Line "Diva."

Right-Noa Tylo ponders the ben-efits and consequences of daring to bare

Skin has always been in, but it is more out than ever before. Today, many artists and public personalities are revealing themselves to sell albums

"It would be the best decision for his stagnant career," says Thomson. "Zierling needs to shake it up a little. Appearing in Playgirl would get people and tickets. But does it work?

"Showing skin has definitely increased my tour's visibility," says DJ Scotty Thomson, currently spinning big room clubs across the nation on the Show It! Tour, sponsored by sportswear designer Andrew Christian. "I'm in the business of creating fun nights and it is fun to let it all hang out."

Billy Prescott, a TV News anchor on Canada's Naked News Daily Male, agrees. "In today's overcrowded media climate, it's important to find something that will make you stand out from the rest."

"If you got it, flaunt it," he says with a laugh.

It is not only gay men daring to bare it all. Daniel Radcliffe's (Harry Potter) full Monty in the London stage production of Equus sparked an international media frenzy. He's nearing the end of his run and blogs are reporting that Billy Elliot's Jamie Bell will be taking his place.

Blogs are also abuzz that Beverly Hills 90210's Ian Ziering will soon be appearing in Playgirl Magazine.

talking about him again."

Not everyone takes the issue as light heartedly. Seth Gold, an attractive young DJ currently headlining Instinct Magazine's Black Out club tour, has declined requests to take his clothes off for magazines. "I know sex sells but I don't want to be objectified. I prefer to gain attention with my music."

There is no denying, however, that music may not be enough anymore. Today, image is as important as music to an artist. Some suggest it is more important. Perhaps no artist knows this better than Noa Tylo, who has promoted the release of his new album, "Let's Do It!", by appearing on several magazine covers this year in various states of undress.

Explains Tylo, "I express myself through image and music. My new album is about freedom. Not being constrained by old ideas and expectations. It's about being yourself and not what others tell you to be. Therefore, I think any nudity I do with the release of the album is relevant. It's part of my message."

But would Tylo be amassed all the press if he had not taken his clothes off? "I don't believe media is only interested in me for my body, however flattering that may be. I think they write about me because I have something to say. My ideas are as provocative as my photos."

Does attention equal sales? "It does," says Ricardo Torres Ortiz, a gay man and director of A&R at America's top dance music label, Ultra Records. Also known as DJ Ricardo!, his Out. Anthems compilation album, featuring a well muscled and scantily clad man on the cover, was the #2 downloaded dance album on i-Tunes for three consecutive months last summer. This month, he is releasing the sequel, Out. Anthems 2. Once again, the album features a naked male beauty on its cover. "Sex sells, especially when marketing to gay men."

Ortiz acknowledges, however, that it is also important to back it up. "At the end of the day, the most essential facet is the product. Out. Anthems would not have remained a top seller if it hadn't been for the music."

DJ Scotty Thomson agrees, "My playfulness opens doors for me and probably encourages more guys to come hear me play but it's my skill in the booth that keeps me working."

Still, at least one artist acknowledges that being overtly sexual can make it difficult to be taken seriously.

"Initially, my dad didn't understand my approach and always asked why I was wearing this, or touching myself when I perform," admits Noa Tylo, "but it's who I am and always have been. If I was about sunshine and roses I'd wear something floral and sing about rainbows."

Tylo doesn't believe every artist should dare to bare. "If you're not completely comfortable in your skin, I wouldn't do it. It's definitely a slippery road. Once you've revealed a part of yourself, people are always waiting to see what you'll show next."

Capital CiTEA

Well, folks, it's Memorial Day weekend! And that can mean only one thing....First Splash at Hippie Hollow! Yesh, babies, a chance for each and every one of you to rip off those board shorts and bra tops (not necessarily in that order) and reveal absolutely all of your awesome attributes. And don't think we won't be there, Cruise Camera at the ready, to make sure that all of your long-suits and short-comings are documented for posterity.

Until then, may we present to you a young and very, very, VERY comely gentleman by the name of Nico, who can be found pulsating atop the dance boxes at the one and only Cockpit multiple nights each week. The perfect example of male pulchritude is just one of the reasons why the airborne libation lounge is such a popular fixture in Austin's nightlife - and, you'll be most happy to know, that when Nico reveals himself, he reveals nothing but long-suits, honeys....and has promised us that he will do just that at Hippie Hollow this weekend. Naturally, we're taking our wide-angle lens for that one....

We also have a commitment from the one and only David Green and his hunky husband, Max, to do their own revealing on the rocks atop Lake Travis. Trumormongers are mongering that, even though the dynamic duo has no problem whatsoever with revelation, Max does have a habit of keeping his boots on no matter the state of undress. No worries, sweeties....we'll just be sure to bring lots of spit to shine them - and other appendages - with.

Our good buddy Marshall at 'Bout Time has shared with us that, once again, he is taking full responsibility for stocking the beverage barges at the lake - a chore that he does so well that he's been declared the official potent potable purveyor of Splash. We fondly remember last year, chatting with him in the midst of all the frenzied fun, and finding out that he had just sent multitudinous cases of plastic cups to the Travis shore...even though the suds were all canned and bottled. Well, that's our Marshall....never taking chances - at least where the booze is concerned.

Meanwhile, over at Rain, we have been spending the last several weeks trying to get Dallas to join us on the rocks...or, even straight up - hell, we don't care. But overburdened and uber-popular stud that he is, he reports that he's already got a plethora of plans for this weekend, and that we just won't fit onto his dance card. That's okay, honeys....Hedda always makes time for us.

Finally, OCH is pulling out all the stops to make this coming weekend the wettest ever, with oh-so-special events planned each night of the four day fun-fest. There are buffets and happy hours and dance parties (oh my) galore, and enough beautiful people to make me want to get out of my backroom cot and join the party. The adorable couple captured by our cruizy CC would usually be enough to get us to do that, but lately we need our stimulation in even bigger volumes than normally. Of course, if the gore guy reveals all.... hmmm.

Okay, gang....grab the suntan lotion and apply it liberally to all of those sensitive areas. We'd hate for those important parts to be out of commission this weekend, no wouldn't we? And, we'll see YOU at Hippie Hollow!

Space CiTEA

So many people have asked us the proper etiquette for attendance at and participation in one of SoBe's swell soirees that we thought we'd invite two of our very bestest friends from Miami, Armando and John, to provide us with graphic instructions of suitable behavior for such auspicious events. First and foremost, remove as many articles of clothing as possible. Then, begin nuzzling while the camera is pointed at you. Next, look lovingly into your partner's eyes before aiming your lips for eventual locking. Finally, launch into a full-blown bit of tongue-probing as a precursor to a full coital encounter - which, naturally, must be accomplished in the privacy of your lush suite at a nearby hotel. And that, dear students, is how to have a really, REALLY great time at SoBe.....just soze ya know....

Speaking of good times, we always have an amazingly good time with our very dear friend Randall Jobe over at JR's. When he's not perfectly pouring potent potables, he can always be counted on to regale us with some of his ribald humor, especially when it relates to reminiscences of our old days sharing an office over at corporate. We are so-so-pleased to report that the marvy mixologist and pleasing performer is returning to his roots, as it were, and has taken over the task of promoting Houston's number one gay bar - something that he does with an enormous amount of aplomb, doncha know.

And while we're on the subjects of enormous, we've already shared with you how huge, really big, our stud muffin boy toy Ken is based solely on the size of his Ropers, and it was with a delicate degree of decorum that we managed to snap a Cruise Camera photo of the big guy whilst one of our readers was inspecting him over at the BRB for the accuracy of our reports the other night. Our only regret is that we were unable to provide photographic evidence of the super-sized stomper of which we speak, but we believe that the site of oh-so-special K's packed pouch and perky pecs will suffice for now....

We headed over to In & Out to visit with our favorite divine drink dispenser, Brian, and were treated to a very special viewing of the luscious lugs new tattoo, which he has had permanently affixed between his lickable shoulder blades. Now, trumormongers are mongering that the former TWT cover model is planning on having several more pieces of wearable art imprinted on his fab form, but we are not at liberty to divulge just where those colorful accouterments will be placed, but we can share with you that they will be barely covered by the beauteous babes boxer briefs.....and don't think that we don't intend to be on hand for the etchings, honeys.....

Meanwhile, as sister suds palace EJ's, we happened to stroll into the club a few Sundays ago and were confronted by the spitting image of our dear departed Mumsy, who's been trying to contact us through Shirley MacLaine without much success since Miss Out on a Limb sequestered herself in her Taos ashram. Yessiree, old Gingivitis, Blanche De Brie and her daughter Allotta De Brie and Channel Cartier all got together to celebrate Hallmark's gift to the birthers - and we won't tell you which one of the gals most looks like Mater. The Golden Girls were so swamped by admiring fans that thought that they were their mothers, too, that they were forced to hire extra security in the form of Mark, Keith, Jeff and Christopher just to be able to get through the crowds. Thank Gaea we had spare Hermes in our purse to gift them with, 'cause you know how bitter these mothers can get when they think we've forgotten them.

For those in the musical know, a certain diva by the name of Jacinta heats-up the airwaves and the dance floors whenever one of her dee-lish ditties happen to be on the turntable, so you can imagine how fast our toes were tapping and our chiffon twirling when we ran into the devastatingly divine songstress over at Guava Lamp recently. Naturally, we hurled ourselves prostrate before the goddess, and it required the extra efforts and attention of honcho of the head variety, Woody, just to correct our rather poor posture. It just astounds us the globs of glitterati that the club attracts - including the likes of Bubblicious and Craig Henderson - so we always make sure that we bring our embossed autograph book along with us for signings.....

Thumping has become all the rage in H-town - and we're not talking the Thumper-like and -esque machinations of a certain cartoon character, babies - and one of the greatest practitioners of the art is none other than Viviana's very own Melissa Clinton, who we captured during a recent super show thumping the shiny pate of a rather delectable dude which name we couldn't quite make out over the noise of the thumping. Of course, we were hoping to thump the hirsute hunk in other ways, but Melissa just wouldn't hear of it.....even though La Viv herself gave her own personal okay. Dammit.

his chest - something that doesn't exactly go over well with the ubiquitous Melissa Clinton.....probably 'cause she's waiting to thump him....

Someone (or, something....ahem) that we'd love to thump is the super sexy stud that works the polls in the briefest of attire at La Academia. Lest you think that we're talking voting polls, oh but no....we're actually talking about the dance polls, babies, and no one knows how to insinuate them into his routine (and various orifices) better than he does. We wrote his name down on a particularly significant portion of his anatomy, and were completely unsurprised that we were able to fit the whole appellation.....no abbreviations necessary on that writing space, sweeties....

Fresh from our glimpse of the enormous chalkboard on that one, who should we run into (many times, doncha know) but the incredibly- and hugely-talented Gabriel over at Tony's Corner Pocket. Good boogly-woogly, babies, the loofa on that man! We were particularly impressed with his performance - which included all the ways that one can soap up and dry off during one's morning ablutions - and couldn't help hoping that the Big G would be kind enough to drop his soap....and, his towel, of course. It's not often that we find ourselves non-plussed - as our many loyal readers already know

- but this one left us completely unable to form words.....other things formed, of course, but words quite sadly escaped us.

We have frequently mentioned the simply dee-voon

Little Mac over at George, and how very scintillatingly sexy that we find him to be - even though so many of the photos in our exclusive collection of the man show him sporting a cap and other obscuring apparel. Well, we are pleased to finally present a photo of the gore guy that shows neither obfuscation nor secret identities, and think that we've been completely remiss in our previous descriptions of him. Honeys, he is just what the doctor ordered for us, and we have decided to double up the doses on him whenever possible. Hope

George doesn't mind....

Finally, Canadian author Anthony Bidulka swung through the Lone Star state recently to promote his series of books featuring the sloothing talents of Saskatoon's resident heartthrob, Russell Quant. Because we just happen to have a wee little crush on the erudite Lambda Literary Award winner, we quite expectedly grabbed our Minolta and dashed over to Murder by the Book to snap a few pix. The man is so perfect, honeys, that we immediately bought dozens of copies of each of his books, and plan on sleeping with them each and every night. We'd rather have Tony curl up in bed with us, but we've been known to make do with books quite frequently. Be sure to look for our review of Mr. Bidulka and his work coming up soon in This Week in Texas Magazine.

Contest TEA

Well, you've seen the ads....you've heard the rumors....now, it's time for the official 4-1-1 on just what the hell is happening at the Saint on Sunday, June 17. That's the night that This Week in Texas Magazine presents - for the first time in twenty-four years - it's Entertainer of the Year competition...a chance for you, our loyal readers, to elect your favorite female impersonator for both the state and for the cities of Austin, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston and San Antonio. As you read this, our worker bees are already out and about, collecting votes from the public in locations throughout the state, and e-mails are pouring in from El Paso to Beaumont and from Amarillo to South Padre Island letting us know just who the most popular entertainers in the state really are. Next week, we'll announce the top twelve vote-getters and each of those performers will be invited to San Antonio for the big event. On that night, the incomparable Bubbalicious will expertly emcee the festivities, which will include extra special performances by The Body Without a Mind, Tasha Kohl, in her first appearance in almost a decade, as well as the Ultra Hot Chocolate, direct from Las Vegas. This will be the first time that these two magnificent performers will be appearing onstage together since 1992, when they appeared with Donna Day and Naomi Sims

- the Fabulous Four! - for the very last time. That night, each entertainer will perform their signature or very best number for the audience, and after each performance the vote tallies for that performer will appear on the big tally board onstage. At the end of the night, and based on the votes that you will see on that tally board, we will announce TWT Entertainers of the Year for Austin, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston and San Antonio, as well as the TWT Entertainer of the Year for the state of Texas. And, we will feature the state's EOY on the cover of our magazine, along with a photo spread of all twelve contestants inside. The prize package, for those that worry about such things, is over $2500, with the state winner and each city winner being awarded a healthy dose of good old American cash. This is sure to be event that you won't wanna miss - if we do say so ourselves - so be sure to make plans to be at the Saint on June 17th....which also happens to be Rachael Gardner's birthday, but don't concern yourselves too much with that little bit of trivia 'cause she's not expecting gifts or anything extravagant like that, doncha know

Big D TEA

We were feeling a bit nostalgic the other day - as we are wont to do when we've had too many refreshing adult beverages and listened to Joni Mitchell over and over again on our MP3 - so we jumped in the TWT mobile and headed over to Illusions, where we knew we'd run into our very best and one of our oldest friends, Jim Crook. Now, Jim and we go waaaaaaayyyy back, so far back in fact that we remember when she banged the drums in the Western Hills High School marching band over in Ft. Worth. Class of 1980, just soze ya know. Good lord, honeys.....27 years ago. Well, at least not all of our brain cells were damaged in the 80's. Thank Gaea for the Gingko, babies...

Fresh from that stroll down memory lane (where's Barbra when you need her...) we popped in to JR's,

'cause that's where memories and new experiences always collide, doncha know. We always run into folks that we knew back when polyester - the bad kind - ruled, and have a chance to make a whole new bunch of friends that don't even have a clue what platform shoes were all about. In fact, the thrilling trio of Susan, Joe and Richard that we captured during a recent hour of happiness just stared at us all agog when we mentioned Farrah Fawcett....if only Valerie Lohr had been there, honeys - she could've set them straight on the concept of wings....

As if old school chums and a lack of awareness of just how important Charlie's Angels was to our culture weren't enough, we were next confronted with the freshness of youth in the guise of too-too-sexy Jesse over at Outlines. We'd made a pit stop into the fashion palace just to pick up a cute little number for a swell soiree that we're going to this weekend, and were not only treated to a little number on a mannequin but also to the hot little number behind the cash register. We were hoping that we could just wear him to the shindig, but finding matching footwear just proved to be too problematic. And, no, he didn't have any idea who Farrah was either....

The groovy group of Rod, Chris, Bruce and Sharon that we spotted at Pegasus, however, did know exactly who Farrah was, but felt that she was just a flash-in-the-pan, and that the really important cast member of the show was Kate Jackson, particularly since the consensus seemed to be that she was a woman of the sensible shoes set and that she gave up Michael Ontkean so easily in Making Love because she wanted to make a move on Inga, his blonde, Swedish nurse. When talk turned to Fantasy Island, we knew the cocktail hour was in full-swing and gave up on making any sense at all of the day we'd had....Have another one, sweeties.

Cowtown TEA

With summer almost here, it seems as though those of the satire, pantomime and the dance (as Naomi Sims used to say) set are coming out in full force. Gotta have something to do with re-membering Stonewall and all.

At any rate, one such example of darling diva that we ran into while at the Stampede is the always delightful and oft-times delirious Lady Hawk, whose antics both onstage and off have catapulted her into the pantheon of Ft. Worth femme mimics. We sat and visited with her just the other day, but our conversation was cut short when a chicken of substance entered the club, and LH's extra-sexual perception went into over-drive. So, we'll continue that conversation on another day....

Meanwhile, over at the Copa Cabana, we captured a bevy of beauties preparing to stand 'neath the spotlight one recent evening, and naturally felt it incumbent upon us to pixillate the event for posterity, as it were. For those not in the know, the luscious lovelies are Genie Summers, Iman and Mistique, who is apparently proficient in the art of the 30 second face, since she hasn't even begun to start the Sherwin Williams process. Not that she needs much make-up, of course, 'cause that face is porcelain, babies...

Alamo CiTEA

Frequent readers of this column know just how much we adore gore guys, and on one recent sojourn to the Annex, we were treated to a veritable cornucopia of delectable dudes that left us wanting so desperately to suck on something that we were forced join in on the cigar smokeout that the club was hosting. TWT's very own webmaster, Lupe, was on hand chomping on a

Dominican, and there were four fab fellas that asked us to jump right into the middle of the action that they had going on. Thank all that is gay that one of them was with a SWAT team, honeys, 'cause we definitely needed rescuing from that situation....oh, okay, we just wanted to play with all of their really hot tools....

Speaking of hot, leave it to former Alamo City and current Big Apple resident Cyndi Woods to surround herself with nothing but during a recent stop at the Bonham Exchange. As the Cruise Camera photo will show, Cyndi was the only one with even a modicum of clothing on, and all that beefcake bareness had us literally swooning. Fortunately, Niecy had a big old bucket of smelling salts just waiting for us mid-faint, and we were soon right back in proper cruising form. We immediately booked passage on all three beauteous beaus, and should be returning from our voyage as you read this....

Over at the Essence, we were oh-so-glad that we've been practicing our curtsies recently, what with all of the Alamo Court royalty that was on hand for their big election day, and were forced to bow waaaaayyyyy on down to several more than worthy emperor candidates. Well, it's important to be prostrate before a king, you see. It took us merely moments to ascertain exactly which one had the appropriate scepter to rule the Alamo Empire, and we promptly cast our vote for him.

Naturally, he won! We were given the heads-up about adequately-equipped rulers by none other than club honcho of the head variety Bob Fogg, who shared with us that his measurements are always based on purely scientific comparisons with his own awesome adumbration. Just as Mischka....he'll tell ya....

We grabbed our Cruise Camera and headed to the Saint the other night to snap some photos of all the goings-on at the dance hall, but for once there was so much happening that we were overwhelmed and completely forgot to snap away. Between preparations for TWT's Entertainer of the Year next month, plus Erica Andrews' Mr and Miss Texas Continental AND Miss Alamo City US of A, the club's calendar is so jam-packed with spectacular spectacles that we can't even schedule a scheduling session. Big Alamo CITEA congratulations to the club's one and only Christina, who was recently named head potent potable pourer....a position that she so richly deserves!

While we're on the subject of deserving, there's no one more deserving of all good things in life than the Heat's chief meater-and-greeter, Marcus, whose perky and poised personality always makes feel welcome everyone that walks through the front door of the famed party palace. In recognition of all of his many talents, abilities and achievements, we have decided to bestow upon him the coveted Lonnie award, presented to worthy River City denizens for meritorious service above and beyond the call of duty. Notice, if you will, how tightly Marcus clutches the award, and how very pleased he seems to be to have been named its first recipient. Can't wait for the after-party for this ceremony, babies....

Finally, when our Space CITEA columnist texted us to make us aware of the impending arrival of Canadian author Anthony Bidulka to the shores of the San Antonio River, we immediately cleared our calendar and took up residence at the Remember the Alibi Bookstore to make sure that we'd be the first person in line to meet the dashing and debonair diviner of words. We've read all of his books, and honeys they are the real deal. Naturally, we wanted Mr. B to inscribe each of his tomes, hoping that in the midst of one autograph he'd think it was a bar napkin and write down his phone number as well. But, wouldn't you know it? The handsome hunk and scribe is married....dammit all. Oh well....so, rather than plan our nuptials, we just snapped a photo of the comely cutie perfectly perched with bookstore owner Ray and author Caro Soles, whose series of mysteries is almost as beguiling as those of Mr. Bidulka's. Wish you could've stayed longer, Tony....

MODELS/ESCORTS

TWT POLICY

Because prostitution is illegal in Texas, State Law prohibits the placement of any such ads. Therefore, TWT policy stipulates that we will not and cannot knowingly accept any advertisements suggesting solicitation. It's the law. Also State Law prohibits nonlicensed massage therapists from using terms such as: "massage," "Swedish," "acupressure," "Shiatsu," "reflexology," "body rub," "back rub," "body massage," or any term which indicates bodily contact.

LICENSED MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category. Therefore, TWT policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisements and that a photocopy of such license be on file at TWT.
