Guild Press Ltd., and Guild Book Service have combined their resources to make this Guide possible. There are guides on the market but the listings are so outdated and the errors so numerous that they are hardly usable. There are more expensive guides on the market, but this reflects the outlook of the publisher rather than the merit of the work. We are striving for a quality product at a moderate price.

We need your help if this Guide is to grow in both usefulness and availability. No error is too slight to ignore - no matter what errors you detect in this edition of Guild Guide, let us know about them.

Let us have the listings which you feel will be useful to others. We are particularly anxious to list those smaller and better bars and to secure listings for the smaller cities and towns.

Ideally, we would like to list at least one hotel, several bars, a clothing store, and any other special features in each city listed. With the 1965 edition a brief but informative introduction will be given to each large city. These will be brief and to the point. For example, if you do come to Wash., D. C., do not go near Lafayette Park!

Also, we hope you will keep your sense of humor and equilibrium. If you go into the dullest bar in the world and meet the nicest person in the world, this is not sufficient to ask that this bar be listed. On the other hand, if you go into a place filled with lonely young men and just can not make friends, this is no reason not to let us have the listing!

Finally, please make each listing complete. Please send us the name of the establishment, the exact street address, telephone number and a brief description of it. Report any items of interest with reference to any city that you feel will be useful to others.

The Guild Guide will expand and become more useful each year. Help us achieve this by sending in information, suggestions, complaints and criticisms. This is YOUR guide to a better social life, new friends and more rewarding travels.

Entries for all foreign countries are being edited and processed now. Please send in your additions to this group. Again, please make all listings as complete as possible and double check for absolute accuracy.

Happy Bar hopping!
