TLC plans active season

The Lambda Club (TLC) has planned an active program for the fall season. TLC, an organization for the promotion of social and educational activities meeting the needs of the gay community, will initiate the weekly Tuesday night Socials beginning October 12th. These socials are designed to be flexible so that everyone can "do his or her thing." The first so-

... Or, Why trolls come out when the water comes up

If you're old, male and poor, then you may be a plant's best friend.

A recent study by the Field Research Corporation has found that, according to at least one interpretation, a plant owner's sex, age, and yearly income are factors in whether a house plant is happy . . . or even survives.

According to the Field Poll, only 60% of those with annual incomes of less than $7,000 said they had lost plants.

In addition, 72% of women sur-cial is billed as a game night.

TLC is eager to get new ideas on how to expand the social activities in the Houston Gay community.

TLC meets at the First Unitarian Church (5210 Fannin) on Tuesday nights. Planning committees meet at 7:30 p.m. and the socials begin at 8:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

veyed said they had some house plants pass on in the last year, while only 67% of the men reported losses. Field says that persons over 60 years of age lose only half of the plants that persons under 60 do.

The survey used a sampling of 1134 households -- all located in California.

Why the Golden State? One source suggested that California was the only state where Field could find enough plant freaks to answer his questions.

Taser possibly police weapon of the future

The Taser, that flashlight like weapon which sends 50,000 volts of electricity through its victims, is currently being employed by at least five police departments across the country.

According to John Cover, president of Taser Systems, Inc., police in Lauderdale Lakes, Fla., Nashville, Tenn., and a suburb of Akron, Ohio, are using the gun, and law enforcement officials in two Louisiana and Mississippi towns are testing the weapons.

Last spring, as a result of pressure from Congress and several law enforcement agencies, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms ruled that the Taser must be registered under the National Firearms Act. Shortly thereafter, sales of the weapon, which had climbed to 3500, plummeted.

Now, however, Taser Systems says it plans to manufacture a new model which will make the new model easier to market. The modification is that instead of looking like a flashlight, it will resemble a pistol and therefore will qualify as a firearm.

The Taser works by setting off two metal hooks, which shoot out up to 150 feet and latch onto its intended victim. Once the hooks penetrate skin or clothing, they emit 50,000 volts of electricity which knock out the victim for approximately ten minutes.

Reports have come in from around the country of burglaries and other crimes committed using the Taser. Last January, Canadian officials outlawed the Taser when they found it was instrumental in a number of robberies.

Christine Jorgensen: "After" and twenty five years after

Christine Jorgensen, the sex-change pioneer, admitted during a recent press conference that she is still undergoing periodic operations, although none is as major as those that turned the Army veteran into a female 25 years ago.

"I recently had a little face tuck," she admitted at a San Jose University press conference. "I believe in them, honey," she said with a broad wink of her masked eyes.

She said she would be 50 soon, but didn't feel it and didn't think she looked it.

Supporting the women's lib movement, Christine lives alone in Laguna Beach, California. Twice she has been engaged but never married.

Student bodies across the country sponsor her lectures on human identity and communication. She claims to have addressed more than 100,000 students.

Throughout the years Christine has been engaged in many professions -- an actress, a mimic, an authoress (she wrote her autobiography which was made into a 1969 film), TV personality, hatter, and college lecturer. Now she is planning to go into the turban business and she has just completed a Scandinavian cook book and is looking for a publisher.

THIS IS THE EDITOR'S OWN PAGE.

That time of the year for Dallas has arrived once again and this being Texas - OU weekend plus the State Fair should make Big D THE place to be this coming weekend. A new SUPER disco is on the way for Dallas, called Dimension 3, but unfortunately this new ultra modern disco won't be open for about another four weeks. But for all you Texas-OU bar goers there will still be plenty to do. Texas Tornado Tiffany Jones will be doing a show in Big D Sunday night and you won't want to miss it. The Swamptrash Lounge on Throckmorton has got to be one of the most fun bars around. The Tool Box at 1804 Throckmorton, has fast become known as Dallas' Alternative Afternoon Bar, open 7 days from 2 p.m. til 2 a.m. Of course the Club Baths will be a must on such a festive occasion. In fact the whole city of Dallas will be one from Texas-OU weekend that you won't forget for a long time to come.

In Houston, the Depo$itory is steadily getting ready for their move to bigger and better quarters. Houston's super bar will soon be Houston's SUPER BAR. The Inside/Outside has now opened the Inside/Outside Country adjoining the original location and is quickly becoming the "in" spot in town. Sunday evenings at Sally's is now known as Sunday Survival. If you have been able to survive all the daily Sunday specials across Houston, stop in at Sally's and see what surprises they have in store for you. Ron Oruc Florists in the 900 Lovett complex is now ready (can you believe it?) for the Christmas rush. So if you're really hot for Christmas in October, stop by and see Ron. The new "hard hat" area at After Dark has really caught on and some evenings you can even find a line waiting to go up the stairs.

As usual, New Orleans is as festive as ever with the Bourbon Pub open 24 hours a day. And if that won't tire you out the Parade, the hottest all night disco around is bound to wear you out.

As most of our readers know, we distribute in Texas and Louisiana. In the not too distant past we managed to expand to the hot little town of Hot Springs in the hills of Arkansas. A few weeks back came Oklahoma City, and next week Tulsa is on the list. If you out of town bars have any special events that we might miss, drop us a line. Our purpose is to let the readers know what is happening, and we can't do that without YOU.

I have also mentioned in the past few weeks about a BIG new outlook for the Nuntius. Well, next week is the week, so get ready! The Southwestern United States Number 1 publication is ready for a major overhaul! I can assure you that the wait has well been worth waiting for.

Til next week,

POEM

ODE TO OCTOBER

O-c-t-o-b-e-r, we spell you out
To be sure that we are right,
For in some minds there's doubt
About your strange odd night.

Halloween it is gayly called,
Night of witches, fays, fairies.
Older ones are often appalled
With the gay havoc it carries.

Now we think of winter's cold
And the falling of the leaves,
But the story's old, retold.
We hope a leaf stays on Eve's.

HOW TO CATCH A HUSBAND

M. W. MACDONALD

ON THE MATTER OF DIVORCE IN THE BIBLE BELT

Have you ever thought you were possessed by demons? Has your husband ever considered that he could be possessed by demons? You can easily make your husband believe that he is possessed by demons, and consequently needs your help out of it if:

- (1) he is a Christian, Catholic, Baptist, Episcopalian, or Evangelical Fundamentalist, it doesn't matter.
- (2) he has ever been a Christian. Guilt hangs on a long time.
- (3) he has been to see The Exorcist, The Omen, Rosemary's Baby, Beyond the Door, Dracula, Billy Graham, Faust, or Snow White even.
- (4) there is, around the house, a ouija board.

A prominent socialite in Dallas told me how his husband, Dave, who was normally an incorrigible bar queen, became fascinated with a ouija board at a party. When the ouija board began to spell out accurate answers to questions about himself and others, Dave became livid. He determined to prove that it was all a hoax. The next evening my friend came home from work with a ouija board and urged his husband to participate. Once again the board began to predict that Dave would become an alcoholic and experience the passive end of anal intercourse until his rectal cavity hemorrhaged and he wasted away from dysentery. To avoid this, he was told, he would have to abandon the gay life and perform cunnilingus on a septuagenarian woman in a nursing home.

These prophecies continued. His personality began to change radically. He stayed at home and drank buttermilk. He stayed away from the bars, venturing in only to pick up copies of the Nuntius, being too cheap to take out a subscription.

He continued to pressure his lover into sessions with the ouija board. My friend was delighted, and immediately called up some Greek friends who were believers in demonic possession.

Finally one evening while they were asking the ouija board questions, it spelled out that they would no longer have to use the board; the spirit would give guidance directly through Dave's husband.

My friend immediately fell into a trance and a voice -- like Shirley Temple's -- spoke out of him. The spirit which was a demon, reiterated all the things previously spelled on the board and told Dave that it was time for him to leave for the bar and his mission of destiny.

Shortly afterwards a friend told the socialite that hal Lindsey was to be in town speaking on the rise of the occult. He persuaded Dave to come with him to the meeting, and they were shocked to find that they were invoked with demons through the initial contact with the ouija board.

They obtained a copy of The Late Great Planet Earth, and Dave read it. As a result he renounced his involvement with demons and asked for an exorcism. The socialite's seven Greek friends came to administer the rites of exorcism dressed in priest's habits. They got Dave plastered on Everclear and then fucked him one at a time, for seven days and seven nights. As a result, Dave underwent a colostomy and went insane shortly thereafter. Now he takes his dumps in a plastic bag tied around his waist and spends his time cutting out paper dolls in the state hospital. He has sex with a seventy-seven year old woman there.

The socialite has all of his money, the house, the car, and the wirehaired terrier. He visits Dave once a month at the hospital in Austin. He has a houseboy, who is well endowed, and a Swedish chauffeur, who is over six feet tall and built like a brick shit-house. The socialite is quite happy, and doesn't regret at all the tricks he pulled on Dave with the ouija board. He reports that Dave is happy too.

COVER BOY

It's becoming more and more amazing every week how we manage to come up with such beautiful guys living in Texas to take over the cover and center fold.

But what seems even stranger is that very few of them are native Texans. Such is the case with this weeks cover boy, Gene Gillis.

Gene is originally from Tulsa, Oklahoma, but has been living in Big D for the past few months. That is until our infamous Rhoda Blablitt caught his go-go act at the Swamptrash Lounge in Dallas. That's the one with "no class -- just style".

This blonde haired, hazel eyed beauty would make a fine catch for just about anyone - even Rhoda!
