Upfront With The Community

by
SEAN CARTER
Mr. Gay Houston All-American 1997

Well, this past weekend was another fun-filled weekend, but this time it all seemed to be crammed into one night. Sunday night saw shows at the BRB, Venture-N, The New Barn, and at Gentry. What a night!!! All of these events continued raising well needed funds for those afflicted in our community. Applause to all the people who organized, performed and even supported these efforts.

This weekend will see more shows and more money raised. Friday night at Chances, RSICSS will be hosting a show benefiting the Montrose Women's Clinic. Saturday night RSICSS and Candidate for Mr. TGRA 1998 Xavier Luna will be hosting another show at Chances benefiting AVES. Sunday night at the Venture-N, the L.V.L. P.W.A. Holiday Fund and Jackie Thome will be hosting "Leather Lather." Also that evening the final night of Mr. Prime Choice will be held at the Ripcord. As always there will be many events keeping many people busy this weekend.

This past week, I heard a comment in a bar, one of which I have heard before, and it always grabs me the wrong way. This person standing near me during a show said, "Can't these drag queens give it a rest!" Well I for one hope they never do. I decided that this week I would try to help educate those in our community who do not understand the purpose behind many of these shows.

Yes, like I explained earlier there are many shows going on, and we see many of the same performers both male and drag on various occasions. These people all have one thing in common. They are donating their precious time out of their busy lives for charity. No one person makes any money for themselves; they make the money for the people who need it. These performers spend countless hours off the stage rehearsing, organizing, and advertising. And yes, the drag queens spend a lot of dollars and a lot of time buying dresses and wigs and make-up (and panty hose!) and getting painted so they can perform and entertain. But most important, their time and their money is going for the betterment of someone else's life. This is their way of contributing to our community. And when you add up funds raised, it is helping a lot of people.

Every group has their own look or theme, be it serious or camp. From the Imperial Court to Garden Party to Soiree Aubergine, each group that raises money does it in their own way. But no matter what the theme or event, it is raising funds for research in finding a cure for AIDS, or for education in preventing the spread of HIV infection, or for assistance in providing care for someone afflicted. Every penny raised, is going to some aspect of helping our community. As I have said many times before, "We can't sit back and expect miracles to happen; we have to make the miracles ourselves."

The other day, I was speaking to a friend about the money our community in Houston raises for HIV and AIDS. After adding the totals in this past year from just three of the many organizations here in Houston, the number was well over $250,000. And that is just part of it. So the next time, you have the privilege of seeing one of these shows, remember the time and effort put into it, and remember who benefits from all of that hard work. Houstonians should be very proud of the work our community does for the cause of fighting HIV and AIDS.

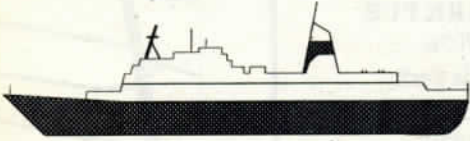

Once again, this weekend is busy so take your pick, there are enough shows to choose from this weekend, or like some people — hit'em all! Remember, these people who are out there every weekend working for our community are doing this out of love and caring for our brothers and sisters in need. This personal commitment is what keeps our community going strong and will keep our community alive. They always appreciate your tips and donations because it is this fundraising that keeps many of these organizations efficient. Money or not, your cheering and support is always appreciated. Remember, applause does not cost a thing. So once again, we have a lot to be proud of. And until next week...have fun Houston.

The World of Gay Travel

By Christopher Roth

Never have I been as impressed or felt as welcome in a European country as I was when I traveled to Spain last October. Spain has for years been Europe's most visited destination, and this is also true among Europe's gay community. The Island of Ibiza and the town of Stiges (south of Barcelona) are very popular during the summer months, while the Playa del Ingles in the Canary Islands, is hopping with German and Dutch gays year-round. Spanish night life is famous throughout all of Europe. People don't go out before 10:00 or 11:00 p.m., and the fiestas don't end until around 6:00 or 7:00 a.m.. It is not uncommon to see traffic jams in the streets of Madrid or Barcelona at 4:00 a.m. on a Friday or Saturday night. Now I know the true meaning of a Siesta!!!

Spain is easily accessible from Houston, with a quick connection through either Miami or New York on Iberia Airlines. Iberia, the National Airlines of Spain, is a member of the International Gay Travel Association and looks forward to serving the community.

Homosexuality in Spain was legalized when the National Constitution was promulgated in 1978. Within the last 15 years, Spanish attitudes toward homosexuality have dramatically changed. Spanish gays and lesbians are coming out, and a truly gay renaissance is taking place. Today, almost every town in Spain, whether large or small, has its gay bars and gay community centers. Gay magazines, newspapers, and radio programs have appeared in almost every city. Most major cities, including Barcelona, Valencia, Vitoria, and Madrid have passed partnership laws, giving same sex couples almost the same rights heterosexual couples enjoy. In 1995 Spain became the first Latin country to add to its Penal Code a clause forbidding discrimination in housing and employment based on sexual orientation, as well as to strengthen punishments on crimes based on hate towards gays and lesbians. Moreover, there is currently a bill in the Spanish Parliament, awaiting passage, that would establish partnership rights to same sex couples on the national level. If the law passes, Spain would become the third country in the European Community with such a law in its books.

Spain has come a long way in the last 15 years. A new dawn of tolerance, social justice and freedom is emerging. The doors of the closets are wide open, never to be closed again. Each of my articles over the next month will feature a different part of Spain. So keep reading to find out where your favorite city will be.
