LARRY Edwards AS "Hot Chocolate"

by Cade Michals

I'm sitting in Las Vegas with Larry Edwards, one of Sin City's most known entertainers, as he wears silk shorts and tank top looking very relaxed and full of life. Larry Edwards is an entertainer's entertainer. People in Houston might know Larry as "Hot Chocolate" or one of the "Fab Four," that included Naomi Sims, Tasha Kohl and Donna Day, a piece of drag history that will never be forgotten.

Born and raised in Ft. Myers, Florida, Larry knew from a young age he was gay. Being his only son, Larry's father did not accept this, but after a few years, he came to terms with it. "My mother really enjoyed the drag persona Hot Chocolate and accepted me being gay from the beginning. My younger sister also happens to be gay as well" Larry says. Discovering drag at a young age, Larry was fascinated by other entertainers and the crowd's reaction, which allowed him to express himself more openly on stage.

"It has taken many years of perfecting the illusion of Tina Turner. I would constantly watch her videos, television appearances and her concerts. Performing six nights a week in "Divas", as well as others, it gave me the extra practice to work on my Tina Turner tribute." Larry is one of the most well-known Tina Turner impersonators in the world, with movie credits that include: "What's Love Got to do With it" and "Miss Congeniality 2" as well as stage shows: Fabulous Four, LaCage, and currently Frank Marino's Divas Las Vegas.

"I met Tina Turner in Chicago after her Oprah appearance. What a highlight of my career to get not only recognition, but approval from Tina. She is very honored and flattered with the photos and videos she has seen over the years. Tina thanked me for doing a first class tribute to her."

"I've worked with Frank Marino for many years at LaCage and now Divas. I'm very proud to to perform on the Strip in Vegas along with Frank Marino" states Larry. "I work 7 days a week which includes Divas and Piranha nightclub, therefore I don't have much time off to enjoy. When I do have time off I enjoy having dinner with friends and entertaining guests visiting from other cities. My favorite thing to do is to show friends the fun night-life of Vegas, the neon lights, the glitz and the glamour, all in VIP style."

"It brings such pleasure to create happiness for others onstage and off".

You can catch Larry Edwards at F Bar this December. "Looking forward to seeing you over the holidays. If you're ever in Vegas please come see me at Frank Marino's Divas Show at the Imperial Palace Hotel & Piranha nightclub. I would personally like to thank Houston for all of the support you've given me and the Fabulous Four over the years!"

VEGAS' ONLY STRIPEASE SPECTACULAR! PEEPSHOW STARRING HOLLY MADISON

FANTASTIC! Are you a fan of Holly Madison or maybe even "The Girls Next Door?" Either way, this old school Las Vegas style chorus is an absolutely must see show. Surprisingly, Holly wasn't the only star shining on this stage, Josh Strickland was a cut above the rest. His great performance value and stellar vocal range stole the show. Don't get me wrong, Holly is even more beautiful in person, but if you want to really talk about talent, looks towards Josh.

Being mostly topless, the show is well written and the cast members seemed to be having the time of their life. This is truly a real Vegas-type experience.

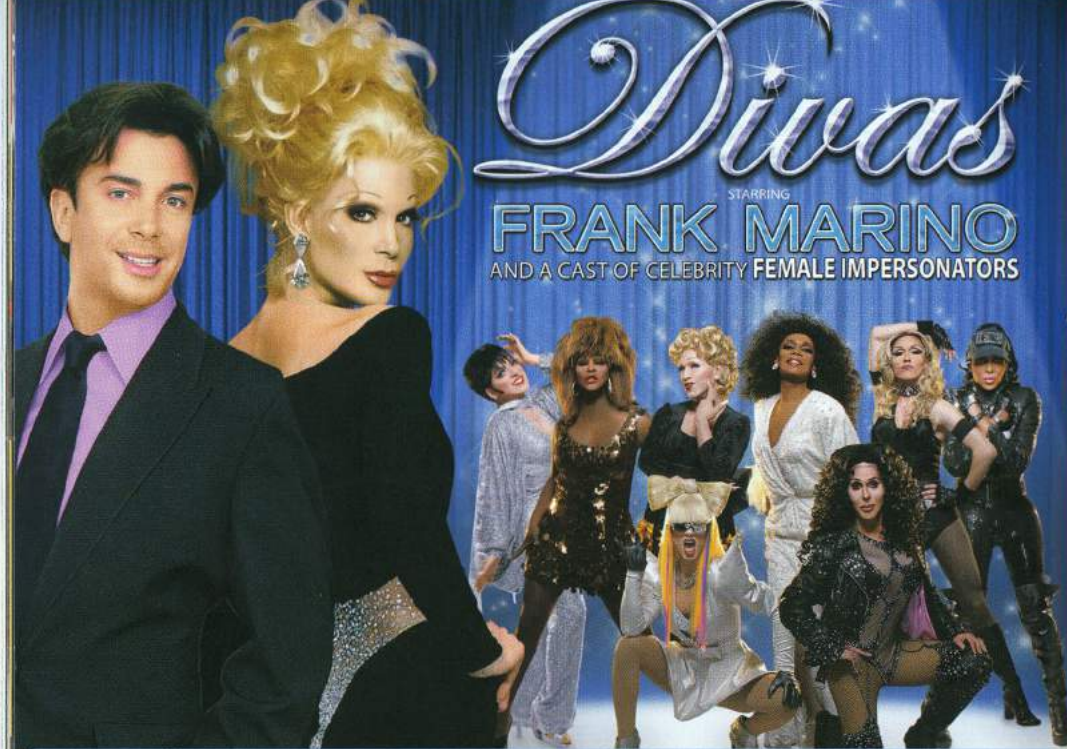

No cameras and phones are allowed in the theatre.

Burgers and Shakes with Booze, Oh My!

Truly one of the most amazing experiences of food in Las Vegas! Located at the Cosmopolitan on Las Vegas Boulevard, Holstein's Burgers and Shakes could not be more RIGHT! "Just the RIGHT amount of WRONG" as The Cosmopolitan likes to say.

Holstein's vibe is topped with friendly staff, and waiters that insist on helping your every need. Opening in November 2010, the menu is stacked full of everything for a visitor in Vegas to munch on at a reasonable price and keep those who don't eat red meat happy. From mouth-watering ahi tuna sliders to delicious alcohol infused shakes, this place will truly uplift your mood as well as your blood alcohol level. This is definitely a "Must Eat" restaurant in Vegas, hands down!

HOLSTEINS
SHAKES & BUNS

One of Vegas' living legends Frank Marino is sitting across from me wearing almost nothing. It's Friday in Las Vegas and it's his day off.

Our first question that was asked of Frank was how his show was doing, he responded with "the shows have been amazing! It's summertime in Vegas, so it is always packed!" What is great about this show in particular is they accommodate for all age brackets, so they don't have a set "busy season". This is one of the leading contributors to the show's success and longevity.

"When I got to Vegas, which feels like a hundred years ago, it was more formal. I call it the end of the Mafia Era, which I really liked. People would come in dressed, men in their suits and woman in their formal gowns, a very glamorous time. Nowadays people are more casual. It's defiantly not the glam that it use to be" said Marino.

Frank came to Vegas 25 years ago to star in a show called "LaCage", but once his contract was up, he decided it was time for his own show. He gathered his resources and the most talented friends from all over and created the "Divas" show, the same show that is still running at the Imperial Palace now.

"I change clothes on stage an average of seventeen times per show and I was just placed in the Genius Book of World Records. I have done over 20,000 shows and that comes to over 360,000 costume changes".

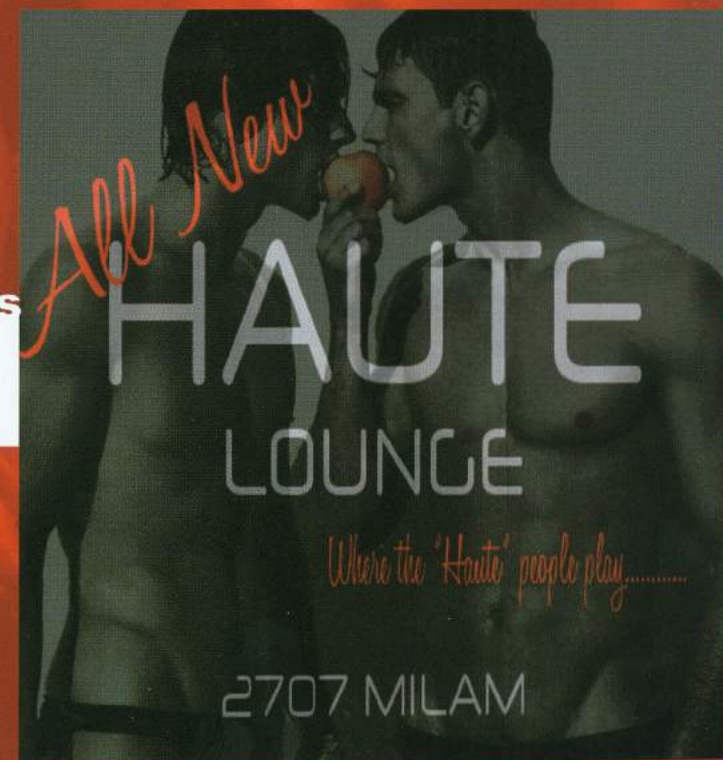

"I have taken my clothes off more times than Lindsey Lohan". - Frank Marino

We offer Frank Marino a huge round of applause, because as of July 21st, it will mark his 1,000th show with "Divas". We praise you for your boldness as well as your humility.

If you ever make it out to Vegas, "Divas" must be on your to-do list, you will not regret it.
