MADONNA

HITS HOUSTON OCTOBER 24TH AND 25TH
WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT!

In just under a week Madonna's MDNA tour will arrive at Houston's Toyota Center to give her fans a taste of the DNA. Madonna, considered to be one of the "25 Most Powerful Woman of the Past Century" by Time Magazine opens her concerts on October 24th and the finale Houston show on the following day.

Madonna, known for standing up for Human Rights caused an up roar last week in Los Angeles when she went into a full strip tease on stage, baring her flesh for a cause; a 14-year-old girl named Malala Yousafzai, a young Pakistani woman who was shot in the head by Taliban thugs for expressing her opinions and being a activist for woman. "This made me cry," Madonna told the crowd, "The 14-year-old Pakistani girl who was shot on a school-bus for writing a blog about how important education was to her. The Taliban stopped her bus and shot her ... Do you understand the sickness and absurdity of this?"

It's because of this.. her politics of provocation, Madonna Rules. The MDNA tour is so far the highest earning tour, earning $115.7 million in Europe and $110 million in ticket sales for the States.

What can a Houston Madonna fan expect to see?

Well the Majesty herself describes the tour in a statement as "the journey of a soul from darkness to light," this could be true. After all, the ringing of church bells and the chats and machine guns toted by Madonna herself; sex is the weapon, her being the middle between violence and religion. "This is part spectacle and sometimes intimate performance art." She states.

Oh you better believe that just because Madonna is 54, she will give Houston a show of their life. The Houston concert will be filled with costumes, everything thing from folk dancers, medieval, drummers and baton twirlers. There could even be a point that her son, Rocco joins her on stage.

The last time Madonna played Houston, it was at Minute Maid Park, and she showed up 2-hours late to a crowd eager for her to start. Will this happen this time? No one knows, but rumors suggest her late arrivals my be due to the increase in her merchandise sales, that tend to sell out before she even takes stage. Who cares? It's Madonna, right?

*As voted by the Houston Press.

Nothing worse than alcohol and singers

the karaoke host HATES you!!!

by: Singa Long

Recently on the British version of X FACTOR a 30-ish guy, who after looking like he would pass out from nerves, opened his mouth to sing and wowed the crowd and the judges with Bette Midler's , "The Rose". The remarkable part was that after chickening out for five years, he finally summoned his courage. When asked what had held him back, he replied that all of his friends discouraged him and said his voice was terrible. Four "yes" votes from the judges hopefully made the unbelievers see the light.

If only it happened that way more often.

Too often when a would-be singer is encouraged to NOT sing by his friends, they know of what they speak. And most of them can't carry a tune either. Yet, they all fancy themselves Sinatra or Cher or Gaga when a Karaoke machine is cranked up. Thus leading more than one underpaid Karaoke Host to turn to pills, liquor or dog-kicking. How many screeched versions of "Born This Way" can any human stand? And even if it's free entertainment, does it have to be torture as well?

Of course, since most non-singers have to ply themselves with too much alcohol to climb a stage and belt out "Gypsies, Tramps and Thieves", it only makes sense that they have no idea how dreadful their performance really is. Unfortunately their equally wasted friends egging them on are no help. So as the karaoke hosts' ears are bloodied, everyone else is having a great time .

There is the urban legend that tells of a Karaoke Host who, half way through a particularly horrendous version of "My Way", wrapped the microphone cord around the singer's neck and had to be hit with a horse tranquilizer before letting go. Rumor has it that a current Host uses stale ding-dongs shoved down the throats of bellowing cow-singers to shut them up. Then there's the tale of one Host who occasionally resorted to the old fashioned "bitch slap", now doing time for aggravated assault.

Let that be a lesson to you. If your friends tell you that you are less than harmonious, and they would rather be tied to an anthill than hear you sing, trust them. Give the Karaoke Host a break and refrain from participating, other than swilling your cocktail and hissing and booing the bad talent who still doesn't get it. Your Karaoke Host will thank you, your friends will thank you, and you can still be "goo-goo" over Gaga...in the privacy of your own shower. Where the worst that can happen is you get soap in your mouth.

until..next time.

Galveston Pride Gears Up for Fifth Year

This year is promising to be the best year of Galveston Pride's five-year-old life, not saying any of the past years have not been good. But this year the Galveston Pride board is pulling out all the stops to make sure this is the best year yet.

Just freshly nominated for an Emmy, Ernie Manouse of PBS along with Tara Dion are your Emcee's for Galveston Pride this year, also co-hosting is Trevor Eade & Nina Lambordo.

Patrice Pike headlines Galveston Pride this year. Phi Phi O'hara known as one of the MOST controversial stars in RuPaul's Drag Race History will also WOW the Galveston Island this Pride 2012. Just announced; The Real L Word's Sara Bittencourt and Whitney Mixer will also be making an appearance.

Even with all this star-studded talent set to entertain this year, AbOUT Magazine fully expects that DJ Elle Morgan, a 12-year-old girl with a baby face; will steal the show.
