Rodeo Houston Gets Ready
ARE YOU READY?

The world's biggest rodeo, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo must be for the world's biggest stars. The ones like Ariana Grande, set to play Tuesday, March 17 —

Grande, one of our most powerful LGBT allies, brings her tour to Houston next week to the famous rotating stage is evidence enough how the artist has become a full Star.

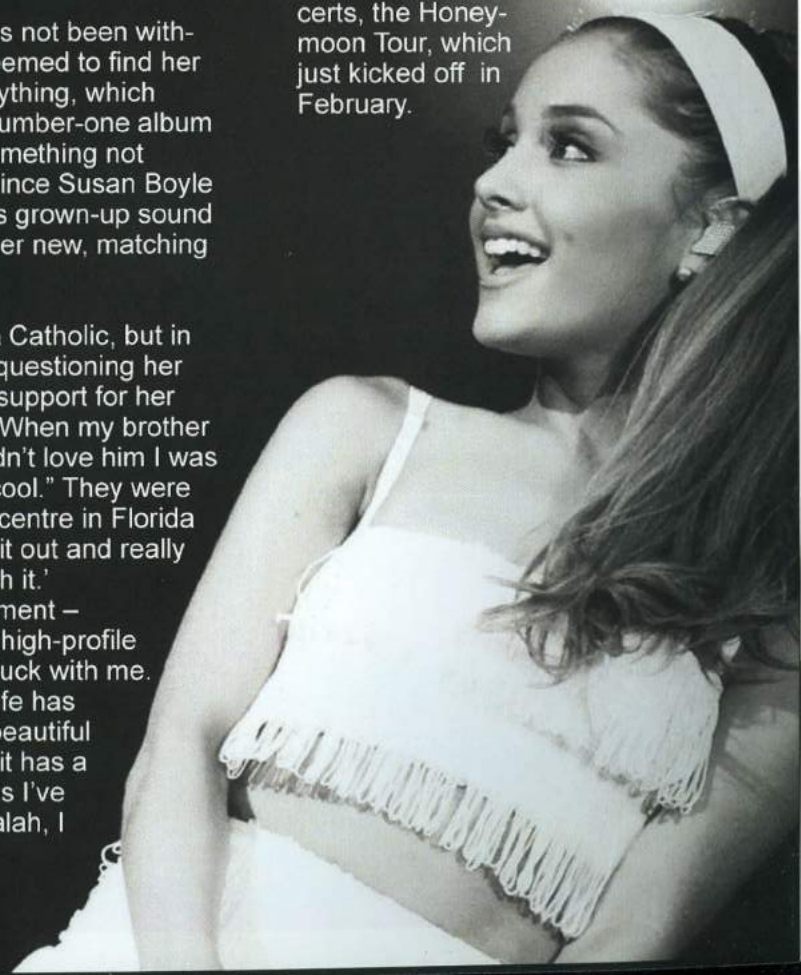

The 21-year-old singer from Florida was a adolescent musical-theatre stalwart who moved into children's television before turning, in her late teens, to the business of applying her multi-octave 'Baby Mariah' vocal range to commercially sure-fire pop.

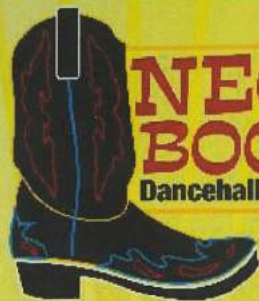

But the transition has not been without its bumps and seemed to find her groove with My Everything, which gave her a second number-one album within 12 months (something not achieved in the US since Susan Boyle in 2010), but with this grown-up sound came issues about her new, matching style.

Grande was raised a Catholic, but in adolescence began questioning her faith out of love and support for her brother, who is gay. 'When my brother was told that God didn't love him I was like, "OK, that's not cool." They were building a Kabbalah centre in Florida so we both checked it out and really had a connection with it.' The Kabbalah movement — Madonna is its most high-profile adherent — 'sort of stuck with me. And since then my life has unfolded in a really beautiful way, and I think that it has a lot to do with the tools I've learnt through Kabbalah, I really do.'

When my brother was told that God didn't love him I was like, "OK, that's not cool"

So Ariana Grande, buoyed by success, family, faith and fans, is focusing on the positives. Those include her first run of international concerts, the Honeymoon Tour, which just kicked off in February.
